CHRISTMAS GIVING

In hundreds of Victoria homes 10 days hence families will pause before the Christmas feast for a murmured benediction. Its phrases will speak the gratitude of fortunate people for the blessings bestowed upon them, its final word—"for these O, Lord, we thank Thee."

To some the blessing will be more than words. Because they have followed some little way in His footsteps, because they, too, have helped to feed the hungry, they will have rendered service to the Christian and the Christmas ideal. Their tables will be twice blessed.

Two days remain in which Victorians may make their gifts, through the Times "Bread for the Hungry" fund, to the starving, the homeless, the ill and the dispossessed. Donations small and large, given from the heart, may take the gaunt wistfulness from the face of a child in Korea, India or Greece. The food such money will buy will nourish small bodies and strengthen hope among those whose lives, without help, can be only tragedy.

The appeal is made to the fortunate people of a rich country, Canada. In their wealth, they are asked to remember the children to whom the simple essentials of life are luxury. They are reminded of the Biblical injunction: "Give, and it shall be given unto you."

From our plenty we are asked a token. As we respond, so shall our Christmas be enriched.

UN Cheers Canada For Ending Deadlock

Martin Actions on Memberships Draws Record Applause in Assembly

(See also Page 9.)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The General Assembly today paid tribute to Canada for the part she played in breaking the long deadlock on UN membership.

After the voting which brought 16 new members into the organization, assembly President Jose Maza of Chile called on Canada's Health Minister Paul Martin Wednesday night for a statement.

A few minutes earlier Soviet Russia had reversed the vetoes which, on Tuesday, buried Canada's 18-nation "package membership" plan. In an amazing about-face the USSR agreed to admit all except Outer Mongolia (blocked by Nationalist China's (veto) and Japan.

PAUL MARTIN
. . . UN ovation

The chief Canadian UN delegate, principal architect of the membership plan, headed a parade of speakers. Witnesses said the applause which broke out when Martin rose to speak, and again when he finished, was possibly the loudest they had ever heard at the UN.

Many other speakers paid tribute to Canada's initiative. Among the warmest in his praise was Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, who expressed pleasure at "the great role which the senior Dominion played in this matter."

Dixon added: "One of its great statesmen, by his statesmanship and courage, has more than anyone else broken the deadlock which has divided us now for nine years."

FLOOD OF TELEGRAMS

Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, December president of the Security Council, said he was sure Martin would be recognized as the leading figure behind the membership solution.

The Canadian delegation here was being deluged by telegrams from grateful people in all parts of the world, particularly those countries admitted to membership.

In his address to the assembly, Martin said:

"All here are conscious that this is a great occasion. I wish to recognize our great debt to the Security Council for the important recommendation it made. . . .

"I and my delegation and my country do not take credit for this result. The credit belongs to many nations and many delegations. The result came from a collective effort based upon extensive negotiations.

"We have one regret, however: that Japan was not accorded membership. We look forward soon, at the earliest possible opportunity, to the inclusion of this nation in our ranks. . . ."

Canada's support of the four Communist applicants, Martin said, must not be construed as expressing approval of their ideology and form of government.

"It may be that as a result of the decision taken tonight we now will have the opportunity of asking why peoples in certain areas continue to be slaves to a particular system. We may be given an opportunity of asking why they are not free.

"We may be given an opportunity of indicting face to face these systems that have permitted imprisonment of great ecclesiastical leaders of all faiths. . . .

"In this first year of the second decade of this organization it may be that our decision tonight will give hope to all peoples, and a strong purpose to the charter of the United Nations, which if allowed to play fully its part could mean in this inter-dependent world freedom, security and peace for all mankind."

RAIL UNIONS TURN DOWN ARBITRATION

Negotiations Bogged Down

MONTREAL (CP)—The major railways today asked non-operating unions to agree that conciliation board findings be made final and binding in their current contract dispute. The proposal was immediately rejected.

This was described as the main feature of a surprise meeting attended by chief union negotiator Frank Hall, representing 150,000 railwaymen.

The railways also asked that the conciliation hearings be held in public and not behind closed doors as has been the custom.

Meanwhilte, in Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested that the railways and non-operating unions submit their dispute to an impartial body.

Mr. St. Laurent was addressing a Canadian Congress of Labor delegation which protested government interference in the last two major railway disputes, one of which was ended by parliamentary legislation.

He spoke after CCL president A. R. Mosher had asked for clarification of a statement by the prime minister Wednesday which Mr. Mosher interpreted as meaning the government might impose compulsory arbitration to settle this dispute.

"When we are convinced we are in the right," Mr. St. Laurent replied, "I think we are always disposed to submit to impartial appraisal of such a situation to indicate that we are in the right."

RENEWS HINT

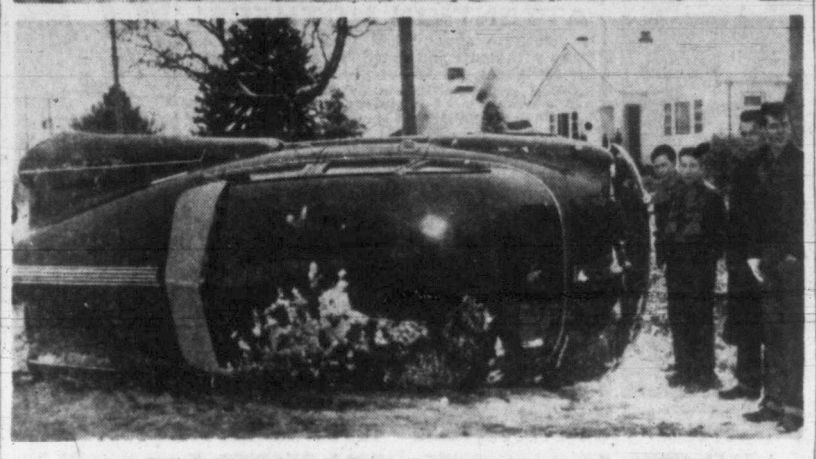
The prime minister renewed his hint of Wednesday that the government will not permit a general railway tie-up.

"I think no one will contemplate the possibility of doing without public transport in a country like ours," he said.

"There must be found some way other than the long-drawn-out stagnation periods in services that are essential to the functioning of our economy."

The prime minister said there is general recognition that there should be no attempt to curtail the right to strike.

"But I did point out Wednesday there could arise deadlocks which would not be in conformity with our Canadian view that things could be worked out by negotiation and other peaceful ways without prolonging matters to the point of exhaustion and interruption of necessary services."



SPECTACULAR ROLLS, TRIVIAL INJURIES

MORE SNOW EXPECTED TONIGHT, FRIDAY

Ice-Coated Roads Play Havoc With Drivers; Cars Overturn

A rash of motor accidents started the day for city and district police this morning as a light fall of snow turned roads and streets into treacherous ice rinks.

Worst accident occurred at 9.05 a.m. when a car driven north on Douglas by Edwin Scott, 1121 Woodstock, skidded and overturned between Toronto and Michigan Streets. He and his wife, Peggy, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

A second spill was reported at Carey Road near Diamond, where a car driven north on Carey by Patrick Clarence Ball, 18, of 326 Obed, skidded off the road, struck a stump and turned on its side.

The accident occurred at 10.45 a.m. Ball was not injured. About $300 damage was caused to the car.

Dozens of other minor incidents were reported as motorists slid through stop signs, rammed into cars ahead, became stuck in ditches, and otherwise battled the elements on their way to work.

Nanaimo reported three inches of snow at noon, and one and one-half inches were reported on the Malahat.

CHAINS NEEDED

Highways department engineers said chains were a necessity on the Malahat, but that all roads in the district were being plowed and sanded.

First Vancouver Island-Coach Lines bus over the Malahat from Nanaimo was reported delayed by slow-moving traffic, but not encountering any trouble.

Weatherman William Mackie said ice pellets fell at midnight, and that snow fell lightly just prior to 6 a.m.

"We are at the critical temperature," he said. "If the surface temperature had been a little higher it would have been rain."

There will be little change in the next 24 hours, he said. Snow flurries are expected for tonight and snow mixed with rain Friday. Temperatures will range between 33 and 38 degrees tonight and Friday, and winds will be northeasterly at 15 miles.

HOUSE HOLDS KEY TO SUNDAY SPORT

Premier Bennett will wait until he's asked to act before deciding what to do about changing Vancouver city's charter to permit commercial sport between 1 and 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Vancouver voters Wednesday approved a Sunday sport plebiscite 38,031 to 36,124.

Next step will be a decision by Vancouver council on an application for changes in the city's charter to give effect to the favorable vote.

Questioned at his press conference today, Premier Bennett refused to discuss the Vancouver plebiscite vote.

"There can be no comment on the question; they haven't asked us," the premier said.

NANAIMO TUG RESCUES 10 B.C. SEAMEN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ten men were plucked from their sinking tug in Georgia strait, 25 miles north of here Wednesday night in one of the fastest marine rescues on record.

A distress call was sent out by Capt. Al Bachen of the tug Commodore Straits when the 120-foot boat hit a rock and began sinking.

The Nanaimo Clipper, under Capt. Bill Thompson of Nanaimo, pulled alongside and in one hour the men steeped from one boat to the other.

MANPOWER SHORTAGE IN 1956?

Premier Bennett said today the government expects "an overall shortage of manpower in B.C. in 1956," and that the government will send civil servants to England to hire specialists and technicians.

The government will also recruit help, mostly in the trades and unskilled fields, from the prairies.

"Wherever we need specialists, we'll go and get them," he said.

Shortages were already showing in engineering and other fields, and with construction of new highways, the PGE, bridges, booming private industry, the gas pipeline, need for skilled workers was becoming acute.

The provincial development, said the premier, "will create a tremendous amount of employment. It will amount to thousands in the new labor force in 1956."

In bringing in this new population the premier said he hoped "many former Canadians will return from employment in the United States."

If specialists are hired from industry, nothing is solved as a vacancy is left there, he said. It would reflect to over-all betterment of both provincial government and industry to bring in employees from outside the province.

Death Toll 8 In Europe Storm

LONDON (UP)—Icy late-fall gales accompanied by torrents of rain lashed western Europe and the North Atlantic Wednesday night and early today, killing at least eight persons.

Three persons were reported drowned or dashed to death when the Belgian trawler Beatrix Fernande was driven onto Scotland's rocky coast by 70-mile-an-hour winds.

Nasser Issues Virtual Ultimatum

UP and AP Dispatches

CAIRO (UP) — Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser announced Egypt was informing the United Nations today that Egypt and Syria will attack Israel on two fronts if there is "any further Israeli aggression."

The virtual ultimatum brought the Middle East crisis to one of its most critical points since the Palestine fighting stopped six years ago.

GUNS FROM SOVIET

Egypt and Syria recently allied themselves militarily and formed a joint high command. Communist arms deliveries are filling out Egyptian gaps in equipment. Syria fronts on Israeli's northeast border and Egypt abuts the southern frontier.

Nasser issued his warning four days after an Israeli night assault beside the Sea of Galilee killed some 50 Syrians.

Nasser said the Egyptian government was delivering a memorandum to UN secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold today pointing out that "any further Israeli aggression would be met by the resistance of all the Egyptian-Syrian armed forces."

Nasser added that the Arabs "have already fully demonstrated their peaceful intentions by their non-violent attitude."

Speaking to reporters, Nasser said the peaceful attitude taken by the Arab countries "will not continue so long as Israel is aggressive."

Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief of the United Nations truce organizations, today completed a report on the Sea of Galilee attack and sent it to the UN secretary-general.

ISRAEL BLAMED

While details of Gen. Burns' report were not disclosed, a British Foreign Office spokesman said Wednesday his interim report had confirmed the British view that the engagement was an "unprovoked attack" by Israel.

Syria had protested the attack to the United Nations and the matter is scheduled to come before the Security Council Friday.

In Damascus, a Syrian military spokesman said Syrian anti-aircraft batteries fired on three Israeli planes flying over the Syrian-Israeli border Wednesday. The planes were not hit.

PoW DEAL OFFERED

Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, an Israeli foreign ministry spokesman announced Israel has notified Burns it is prepared to free all Syrian prisoners on condition all Israelis in Syrian hands are freed. Informed sources told the Associated Press there are more than 30 Syrians in Israeli hands and five Israeli prisoners in Syria.

Cold War Revived Dulles Warns NATO

PARIS (AP)—State Secretary Dulles of the United States told the NATO council of ministers today that the East-West cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet policy zig-zagging.

In discussing the trends and motives of Russian policy in 1955, Dulles declared the new rulers of the Soviet Union have opened dangerous new cold war fronts in the Middle East and South Asia.

He added, however, that the 15-power Atlantic alliance had overcome greater dangers in the past by remaining ever vigilant and united.

Dulles spoke at the opening of the first council meeting since last summer's Big Four "summit" conference at Geneva and the foreign ministers' subsequent deadlock in the Swiss city.

What, Dulles asked, are the reasons for this year of Soviet "zig-zagging?"

He suggested three possibilities:

1. It might be due to the element of confidence, flowing from a belief in Russia's increased strength.

2. It might derive from the Russians' fear that new ideas would affect the compact structure of their system.

3. And it might be the result of a recrudescence of Stalinism which he believes is by no means dead in the Soviet Union.

Dulles argued that the Russians have been able to pose new threats in the Middle East and South Asia by playing on the emotionalism of those areas and by offering "apparent aid." Although Russia lacks consumer goods, she has big surpluses of obsolescent arms and has no hesitation about using them to further her own political ends, he said.

Son Lost 11 Years Home for Christmas

POLLIAT, France (UP)—A French farm family was busy today preparing its biggest Christmas celebration for the lost son who returned to this tiny village 11 years after the war wearing the uniform of an American airman.

The son is Airman First Class John D. Jones, an American by adoption, and now 21. He will celebrate his first Christmas with his family since Second World War. He is on leave from the 8th Flight-Interceptor Wing in Landstuhl, Germany.

Jones was adopted by American Sgt. Raymond Jones in 1944. He was 10 at the time and under treatment in an American hospital in France for a head injury sufered in an air raid. The memory of his childhood was gone.

The young boy went to school in the United States, joined the air force and was sent overseas to Germany. He returned to Polliat on a hunch and recognized what he believed to be his home and family in the hamlet of Marrelles.

His real name, he learned, is Raymond Monard and he was born in nearby Bourge-en-Bresse on March 30, 1934.

He promised to spend his Christmas leave with his family and his mother is already busy preparing for the Christmas feast.

BREAD FOR THE HUNGRY

'Will There Be Food Tomorrow'? - - Haunting Question in Korea

While Victoria families, warmed and protected in stout homes, trim trees, wrap the gifts of a land of plenty, thousands of Korean women patch leaking roofs in paper shacks, fight famine and cold, mourn lost husbands and watch their children waste away.

Living in refugee camps, the widows of Korea have no way to support their children. Christmas is only another milestone on the road to death by disease or starvation. Each year ages them as 10. Each day fades the light of life in their children's eyes.

The Unitarian Service Committee has pledged $110,000 to Widow Rehabilitation Centres in Korea, Greece and India before Christmas Day. The money will train these women to earn a living for themselves and support for their children.

The widows of Korea ask only a chance to help themselves.

This is a Christmas gift that anyone here can give, simply by a donation to the USC Christmas appeal. To noon today Times readers had donated $2,811.27.

Little notes have accompanied many of the donations received by The Times on behalf of USC. A doctor's prescription slip said, "Enclosed is $15 in aid of an excellent cause."

A frail, shaky hand wrote on a piece of ruled exercise paper, "Just a little help for the hungry children, $5, C.E.L." A Chemainus reader, whose stationery bears a Biblical quotation, "Inasmuch as Ye have done it unto one of the least of these, Ye have done it unto Me," sends $1 and states, "Wish it could be more." A Christmas card, directing its greeting to ". . The poor children who are not as fortunate as I am" contained $2.

HUNGER, LONELINESS and life in refugee camps have aged these Korean war widows.

Blizzard Toll Now 2; Two Others Missing

Snowdrifts of Prairies Worst Storm Obscure Effects Over 3 Provinces

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Snowdrifts still obscured the picture today as the prairie provinces counted dead, searched for missing and restored transportation and communications in the wake of one of their worst blizzards.

Of the three provinces affected, Saskatchewan was by far the worst off. The bodies of two men were found and two men were missing. In Alberta and Manitoba, no fatalities were reported and persons earlier reported missing were found safe.

The bodies found were those of George Shepherd, about 30, of Regina, and RCMP inspector D. J. McCombe.

DIED OF EXPOSURE

Body of Shepherd, an auditor for British American Oil Co. Ltd., was found Wednesday at the doorway of an abandoned farm building. It was believed he couldn't summon strength enough to open the door.

An RCMP list of persons missing in Saskatchewan was reduced late Wednesday night as stranded travelers reached telephones.

SEEK TWO FARMERS

Two men still were unaccounted for.

An RCMP dog and plane were to join the hunt today, weather permitting, for farmhand George Buttes, 34. He disappeared Monday in the Halbrite district in southern Saskatchewan while walking to a well for water during the storm, and only some footprints have been seen since.

Nothing has been heard for three days from Lawrence Hanson, a farmer, who left Kindersley in west-central Saskatchewan Monday to load grain 30 miles away.

A Winnipeg salesman came off the missing lists Wednesday night when he telephoned his wife from Melville, Sask. Terrance Entwhistle said he was stranded in a farmhouse for two days, unable to reach a phone.

In Alberta, bakery salesman Ed Sawchuk of Edmonton also reached a telephone Wednesday, to report he had been stuck in a farmhouse since Monday.

TRAIN HITS SNOWPLOW

Trains, too, felt the storm's fury.

At Superb, Sask., engineer George Moriarity of Wilkie, Sask., suffered a fractured shoulder, three broken ribs and cracked vertebrae when a train smashed into the rear of a snowplow Tuesday night at the height of the storm.

He and eight passengers were taken to Kerrobert by another snowplow.

STORM SIDELIGHTS

Who Said Money Won't Grow on Trees?

EASTEND, Sask. (CP) — The deep drifts of this southwestern Saskatchewan town held cash prizes for snowshovellers.

At the height of the Prairie's big blizzard Tuesday, postal worker Mrs. George Thorson set out for the bank with $2,000 in post office funds—all in $5 and $10 bills.

She didn't make it. After taking a dozen steps, the blizzard force knocked her flat. Her parcel broke and away went the cash. Dozens of Eastend residents appeared and managed to pick $1,500 out of the air and the snow.

The other $500? Well, Wednesday night someone found a 10-spot in a tree about four blocks away.

WADENA, Sask. (CP)—Partyline curiosity led to the discovery of a district farmer who had suffered a broken leg during the Prairie blizzard and crawled into an unheated house.

Kicked by a cow, Joe Neykrayjo pulled himself through drifting snow to reach the house and phone neighbors for help. But the storm had disrupted phone service—he could ring partyline bell signals, but his voice was not heard.

Neykrayjo spent five hours ringing the signals of the other 11 families on the line. At first, neighbors thought it a children's prank. Later, they got together on the line and found all but Neykrayjo accounted for.

Farmers Frank and Edgar Smale then set out during the height of the storm with a horse and toboggan, finally reaching Neykrayjo's house They started a fire and called a school snowmobile to take him to hospital.

DUROCHER IN MOVIELAND

Leo Still Lippy --But Much Gentler

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Leo Durocher's baseball training comes in handy with his new job as TV network executive. Instead of umpires, he can outshout actors.

The former manager of New York Giants is just as talkative as ever, though in somewhat gentler terms than he used on the diamond.

What are his duties? That's what many people wondered when the Lip left baseball for the NBC network post at a reported $50,000 a year.

"I'm not quite sure what I'm supposed to do," he replied. "The only way I can define the job is the way (NBC biggie) Bob Sarnoff put it: I'm an NBC executive."

His functions can include keeping the stars happy. For instance, one of the network's big names asked for a TV set for his new apartment. He was sent one — "the kind that a shop might lend you while you had yours sent out to be repaired," Durocher reported.

The star was incensed. Durocher was sent as a peace emissary. When he arrived, the star launched into a tirade.

"Look — if you want to shout, I can shout with you; I'm an expert at it," said the former big leaguer. "But if you want to talk this thing over sensibly, I'll do that, too."

The star aired his beef, and Durocher said he'd fix it. He arranged the gift of a new 21-inch set.

Aside from memo writing and keeping the actors happy, Durocher has numerous other chores. Not the least is as performer. Last week he appeared on the Ethel Merman show. Monday he donned a baseball uniform — the Cincinnati Reds, no less — to play in a comedy called "O'Toole From Moscow" on Matinee. He has been announced as emcee for the new Comedy Hour show.

"As long as they don't want me to be an actor," he said. "If they give me something in which I can act like Durocher and talk like Durocher, I don't mind it."

He seems to be thriving in his new post and says rumors that he will return to baseball are so much nonsense.

Morrison Quits Post In U.K. Labor Party

LONDON—Wednesday's vote elevating Hugh Gaitskell, 49, to the leadership of the British Labor party, wrote an end to the long career of one of Labor's greatest figures, Herbert Morrison, 67, the party's deputy leader for the last 10 years and a former foreign secretary.

The result of the ballot was announced at a meeting of Labor members in the House of Commons. Morrison, in the chair as deputy leader, seemed staggered.

He handed over the chair to Gaitskell, then left the meeting brokenly, with a friend on each side.

It was announced later that Morrison has resigned as deputy leader of the party.

Lord Amwell, 79-year-old peer who began life as a newsboy, Wednesday night withdrew his support from the Labor party in the House of Lords.

Lord Amwell, who declined to explain his action, is a veteran colleague and admirer of Morrison.

As Fred Montague, Lord Amwell was a junior minister in the Labor government of 1929-31. During the Second World War he temporarily withdrew support from the party following its failure to "discipline" members who, he alleged, were "sniping" at Morrison, then home secretary.

Lord Amwell was made a peer in 1947. He had been a junior minister in Britain's wartime coalition government in 1940-42.

New Citizens Will Attend Yule Party

New Canadians from many lands are being invited to attend a big Chamber of Commerce Christmas party in the Empress Hotel ballroom at noon Friday.

They are being asked to wear the traditional dress of their native lands and may be called on to give Christmas greetings in their own tongue.

"We hope to get about 12 representatives of different national groups," Hector Crombie, secretary-manager of the chamber, said today. "We should remember that Christmas is international in origin and Canada is being built by the hands of many nationalities."

A full hour of entertainment including solo performances by TV artiste Fran Gregory and William El Cota, the famous xylophonist, will be presented at the party.

Fifty door prizes are being offered.

Children Net $2,537 For World-Wide Fund

A total of $2,537.40 was collected by Victoria and Vancouver Island children at Halloween to relieve misery of other youngsters in war-torn and disaster-stirred lands around the world.

Mrs. W. W. McGill, Victoria representative of the Save The Children Fund, reported Wednesday that 2,000 canvassers pushed her third annual drive into new prominence. In its first year of operation, 1953, collections totalled $156. Last year they reached $1,544. Both drives were local.

But this year, Mrs. McGill loaded her car with 2,000 cans donated by Bapco Paint and set off to cover the Island. As a result, Victoria had a few less cans going the rounds and donated $1,136. But Island centres pushed donations to a new high.

Mrs. McGill was enthused with the response and promised, "next year I'll have 3,000 canvassers and get $5,000."

The canvassers were recruited from Sunday schools of all denominations, and donations are still being accepted by Mrs. McGill at her home, 1170 Tattersal Drive.

The fund is world-wide with headquarters in London, England. Since 1919 it has provided food, supplies and medical attention to children in many countries. At present, B.C. headquarters is concentrating in aiding 2,000,000 children in Korea.

Mrs. McGill, who is also a Victoria school trustee, defends her Halloween drive against those who suggest it "takes the fun out of Halloween."

"The enthusiasm of those who have participated increases the joy a hundredfold of children who volunteer to help, as they turn 'getting' to 'giving'."

CO to Look Over Potential NCO's

Brig. George Kitching, commanding officer, B.C. Area, will inspect two passing-out parades of junior NCO candidates Friday morning at Camp Gordon Head and Work Point Barracks.

The two small groups of men have qualified for promotion to rank of corporal or bombardier, following completion of special courses.

Gordon Head soldiers are members of the Second Battalion Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, and will be reviewed at 9 a.m. by the Vancouver commander.

Those at Work Point, numbering about 18, and all members of 4 Light Anti-Aircraft Battery, RCA, will be inspected later in the morning, probably around 10.30 or 11.

OPEN SEASON—ON HUNTERS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sportsmen hunting in Modoc county during special doe hunting season were advised today to keep their heads down.

Sheriff's deputy Gerald Wilson described one sector as only slightly less dangerous than some wartime beachheads.

"The wildest and heaviest shooting I've ever seen," he said.

He reported two men who went into the area to rescue a wounded hunter had to crawl on their stomachs to avoid being hit themselves.

Small Sockeye Run Hits B.C. Fishery Income

Market value of the B.C. fishery will be down this year from the 1954 value of $69,422,000, Deputy Fisheries Minister George Alexander said Wednesday.

Because of "disastrously poor" sockeye salmon run, value will be reduced as sockeye is the most expensive fish, he said.

Sockeye catch this year came to 244,000 cases, compared with 680,000 last year. However, a good catch of pink salmon will help make up the difference. Approximately 830,000 cases of pinks were packed this year, up from 335,000 cases in 1954.

Coho salmon was up from 124,000 cases to 175,000 cases this year, but chums dropped from 580,000 cases last year to 125,000 for 1955.

Last year's market value for B.C. fish of 69,422,000 was a 9.4 per cent increase over 1953. Salmon catch was $50,281,000; herring $7,340,000 and halibut $5,965,000.

The Vancouver Island pack amounted to 349,586 cases, compared with 671,981 in 1953 and 245,437 in 1952.

RED CROSS OBJECTIVE $78,000 IN VICTORIA

Victoria District Red Cross set its sights on a 1956 campaign target of $78,000 Wednesday night, $4,000 more than last year's objective which was over-subscribed.

Campaign chairman Eric Wainwright stated that the provincial objective will be $667,000 as compared with $613,000 raised last year.

Cut-Price Butter Angers New Zealand

'Dumping' of Canadian Surplus at 37c Protested in Formal Note to Ottawa

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—New Zealand in a formal note to the Canadian government has been sharply critical of this country for "dumping" Canadian butter in Europe at less than domestic prices. The complaint has been passed along to the Department of Trade and Commerce.

Canada has frequently criticized the United States for its surplus disposal program on wheat. Now with the compaint from New Zealand this country has come in for its share of criticism in disposing of a surplus agriculture product.

The New Zealand complaint followed published reports that Canada has sold some of its surplus butter to a Netherlands importer. The Dutch purchaser is believed to have customers in East Germany for the butter.

More than 6,000,000 pounds have been shipped under this contract and 4,000,000 pounds may follow. The price is reported to average about 37 cents a pound, 21 cents lower than the floor price paid by the federal treasury for the butter under the support price program.

New Sewerage Cuts Pollution Of Gorge Waters

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant said Wednesday construction of a $40,000 sewer system for Wilkinson Road mental hospital has been completed, ending much of the contamination of the Gorge waterway.

Hospital sewage previously emptied into Colquitz creek and was carried to the Gorge.

President of the Gorge Waterway Improvement Association, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, said sewer system construction is "one more reason why there will be swimming in the gorge next summer. I think the Wilkinson Road sewage was the last big pollution point in the Gorge waterway."

Worthington Endows First Seagull Sign

First to endow a $40 "seagull sign" for the marking of historical and scenic spots in Greater Victoria is ex-alderman John Worthington, member of Chamber of Commerce's tourist trade group.

The eight-foot metal signposts —brainchild of restauranteur Sam Lane—are planned for 16 tourist-interest places around the city. Each would be topped by a model seagul, with extended wings. Immediately under the bird there would be a description "in bold letters" of the place of interest.

Mr. Lane told the tourist group Wednesday that the seagull signs have been endorsed in principle by Greater Victoria municipal councils.

Intention is the $40 aplece cost would be met by hotels, restaurants and other local businesses benefitting from the tourist trade.

Goods From Britain

THE RECENT OTTAWA CONference between British and Canadian trade authorities was faced with statistics which must have caused some alarm. Among them were the totals showing that Britain has been consuming too much and exporting too little — a fact recognized in Mr. Butler's last budget.

The purpose of Mr. Butler's taxes, of course, was to discourage excessive consumption of goods within Britain and encourage their export to overseas countries, especially to the dollar countries of Canada and the United States. Britain has been consuming too much and exporting too little in the process familiarly known, but often misunderstood, as inflation.

The latest official figures compiled in Ottawa show clearly the results of this disequilibrium in the Canadian market. During the first seven months of this year Britain sold $216 millions worth of goods in Canada. It bought $510 millions worth here. It has been selling us less than half as much as it has been buying from us, and assuredly it cannot long continue to do that.

The easy answer to this problem is to say that Canada should buy more British goods and thus provide our British customers with more dollars to be spent on Canadian goods. This is no real answer.

Everyone, or nearly everyone in Canada will agree that it is desirable to buy more British goods and sell more of our own in Britain. But we are not failing to do so, as some opposition politicians suggest, merely because our national policies restrict trade with Britain.

On the contrary, they are carefully designed to encourage such trade. We maintain no tariff or other barriers against British goods that we do not apply to other outside goods. In some important lines of imports we give Britain a substantial tariff preference.

If Britain does not sell more goods here it is because it does not have the goods we want, or because its prices are comparatively high or because it fails to sell energetically enough.

That is precisely what Mr. Butler has been telling the exporters of Britain. He says, rightly, that they tend to sell too much in the sterling area, for pounds, because competition there is relatively easy, and too little in the dollar area, where competition is relatively hard.

Since Britain must earn more dollars, to pay for goods that it must buy in the dollar area, Mr. Butler attempts to cut down Britain's consumption and urges British manufacturers to direct the goods thus saved into Canada and the United States in the largest possible volume.

Canada must hope that Mr. Butler's painful but necessary remedies will succeed. The trade figures of the current year, and several previous years, have been unsatisfactory alike to us and to our British friends. They should improve next year if Britain puts its mind to work in the Canadian market.

Sixteen Accepted

RUSSIA'S LAST-MINUTE PROposal yesterday achieved a compromise solution to the problem of the 18 countries who wanted seats in the United Nations.

Thirteen western-sponsored nations and five Soviet nominees had been under discussion and after seven years of stalemate the U.S.S.R. had agreed to a "package deal" whereby all would be admitted at once. The Nationalist Chinese exile government on Formosa, however, threatened the whole project with disaster when it vetoed the application of Outer Mongolia, and thus invited a string of vetoes from Russia.

The solution adopted yesterday to drop Outer Mongolia and the West's nominee, Japan, from the list, saved the plan from complete defeat.

The new members include such Soviet satellite nations as Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria, on the one hand, and free lands such as Ireland, Finland, Austria and Ceylon, on the other.

The honor of initiating the group acceptance was Canada's, and there should be considerable gratification in this country that a question so long deferred and so fraught with complications should at last have been settled through Canadian efforts.

Basic cause of the long delay had been Russia's insistence on treating the applicants as bargaining counters. Soviet delegates to the U.N. refused to consider non-communist applications unless the West would accept the satellite countries. The "package" proposal brought the situation to a head and won U.N. approval, although the United States was extremely reluctant to see Outer Mongolia given membership.

The Western nations, however, will not forget that Nationalist China imperilled the whole scheme by its veto of Outer Mongolia.

By its action, the Formosa regime, which is accepted on a technicality as the recognized government of a country, gave a poor return for the support the West has accorded it. It was anomalous that so tenuous a membership should be used to bar other countries from seats in the world organization.

It is true that Outer Mongolia's application found little Western favor. But the advantages of having many of the other applicants accepted more than balanced this disadvantage.

As the Detroit News said earlier, in reference to United States opposition to Outer Mongolia: "The Communists surely can do us far less harm by seating a commissar in yak's clothing in the General Assembly than by making it appear that our obstinacy alone has kept 17 nations from the representation that they clearly are entitled to."

The present arrangement will not be popular with the Japanese people. They are, in a sense, being held as hostages for Outer Mongolia and may, indeed, end up as a Soviet talking point for acceptance of Red China. But at least progress has been made, the United Nations' influence widened and a principle of compromise implemented that gives hope for future co-operation.

In Diplomacy 'No Victories'

SOME AMERICAN STUDENTS of United States foreign policy are now allowing themselves a long, hard but not unsympathetic look at the direction given to our neighbor's international activities in recent years.

The public, one writer notes, seems to regard foreign policy and diplomacy in terms of immediate "successes" or "failures." Without saying it in so many words, he implies that Americans view international affairs in much the same way they do a baseball game—and usually in the ninth inning.

There has been heavy emphasis on victories and defeats, strike-outs and home-runs.

But foreign policy does not lend itself to such evaluation. Foreign policy, to be effective, must concern itself with long-term points of view. Its pace is not the quick sprint of a runner to first base, the rifle throw from the outfield or the split-second timing of a double-play. Often it moves almost imperceptibly, and frequently to best advantage when that is the case.

As our United States friends recognize that fact they will create an atmosphere in which their state department may operate more effectively. And in the achievement of that attitude, the American public might profit from the classic tradition of British diplomacy which permits its practitioners no "victories," only the achievement of the goals set for them while the opposition appears to be scoring the spectacular wins.

An Echo From Echo

THE OTHER DAY UNITED States Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay announced that his department was withdrawing a dam at Echo Park, in the Dinosaur National Monument, from its program for developing the Upper Colorado Basin.

The decision to eliminate that dam follows spirited controversy over the proposed installation and the destructive effects it would have on a designated parkland.

Conservationists in the United States have applauded the secretary's action as they have a House bill for further study instead of immediate authorization of the project as a "small price for insurance against what could be a calamitous and irrevocable mistake."

It is doubtful if British Columbia's administration has heard the full debate on this move to protect a park from destruction. But the Provincial Government shouldn't have to strain its ears to hear an echo from Echo. The gist of what was said there has been said here, but apparently without the same results to date.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Use of Time

THE editors of an enterprising Canadian magazine have lately spent much labor, money and arithmetic calculating, for purposes of public education, the lifework of the average citizen.

A certain number of hours in his life will be devoted to work (not many); still more to amusement; some years, if you please, to smoking, shaving, eating, sleeping, and other wasteful occupations—altogether a dismal calculation which reveals at a glance the reckless wastage of our brief span on earth.

Hutchison

NO one can read these accurate figures without realizing the vanity and pitiable futility of his own life. A minor fraction of it will be spent in honorable toil, the bulk of it thrown away and squandered on activities which he cannot even remember.

Why, in the light of this human audit I am conscious that, after nearly forty years of being paid for work, I have hardly worked at all. The statistics cannot be denied.

Like everybody else, you and I have been receiving money under false pretences and could properly be sued for restitution by our employers. Fortunately, they don't know the facts. They have been too busy laboring to support us in idleness. Don't tell them.

BUT, as I have warned you many times before in this space, it is not only useless but dangerous ever to face such facts, to face any facts of importance, since none of them can be endured, except by a saint or an imbecile. The ordinary man trying to face them will come to no good.

The great Sydney Smith, for example, a famous cleric and writer of the last century, once made the mistake of facing certain facts of his life. He calculated to the last ounce the amount of food that he had eaten in some sixty years, the trainloads of groceries, the slaughtered cattle, the hogs, lambs and poultry.

The imagined spectacle of that long procession of innocent vegetables and animals murdered for his nourishment haunted Smith's old age, spoiled his happiness and hurried him with remorse to his grave.

IT is only an iron and indestructible character like Sir Winston Churchill who can safely confront the statistical record without quailing. You will remember how, during the war, he found himself engaged in an argument and, to settle it, sat down to reckon up how much alcoholic beverage he had consumed since youth and was bitterly disappointed to find that all of it, the entire cargo, could be carried in a very small ship.

That must be a solemn discovery for anyone to make. It must have saddened even Churchill. Indeed, when you come to calculate these things—unless you are a ravenous consumer like Smith—you will find that all your production in a lifetime, and all your consumption combined, would hardly stock a corner grocery.

OR again, a man approaching old age, must look back on his money earnings and wonder where they could possibly have gone. Had he saved a reason able portion of them, he could be independent now, but he seldom is.

If our money is wasted and no actuary can possibly tell us where it has gone, how much more massive, subtle and deplorable is the waste of our time.

Consider—or better still, refuse to consider—what you have done with this very day. You may be (though I can hardly imagine it) the meanest man on earth, grudging every nickel and hoarding your treasure in gilt-edge securities, but if you will examine the record, you will find that you have wasted most of today. Multiply that by all the past days, the weeks, months and years and you confront a total waste of which even our governments would be ashamed.

IF any man would mark his time systematically from his rising at dawn to his going to bed at night, if he would count up all the moments lost in useless talk, in drinking coffee, in criticizing his neighbor, in repeating gossip, condemning the government, hating the Communists and in other occupations of the same sport—if, in brief, he once totaled up his use of time, his only real asset, then the most industrious man alive would know himself for an idler and wastrel.

Happily that old style of reckoning is out of date. As the machine frees man and brings him the happiness, security and virtue now apparent on all sides, more and more time is wasted by the old reckoning but less and less by the new.

NOW that we have achieved true civilization at last, we reckon a man's success by the time he can afford to waste. The more he can afford to waste, the bigger man he must be until, if he has to do no work at all, he becomes a model for the young to emulate.

Some educationists and other old-fashioned people seem to be discouraged at the progress of society, but observers of deeper wisdom can see no reason for discouragement. It seems to me that people are learning to waste their time and adorn their leisure in the most impressive and satisfactory fashion; moreover, by working less, they are creating ever wider opportunities for the employment of their fellows and enriching society; and finally enriching themselves and society together with their increasing culture.

Let anyone who doubts it count the television antennae on almost every roof. Don't tell me that people fail to use their leisure wisely.

FROM THE HEART

My husband, children and myself would like to express one big Christmas wish for happiness and good fortune to all our friends, old and new, who have recently helped us realize that every cloud (smoke cloud or otherwise) really does have a silver lining.

We feel we are a pretty lucky family, in spite of our recent fire, and because of the help and sympathy shown by all of you we expect to have our merriest Christmas yet.

We're sure you will all have a Merry Christmas too.

MARDEE GALT.

THE TIME DRAWS NEAR . . .

Once again the whirligig of time has brought us round to the great festival of Christmas, when we are enjoined to celebrate in worship the birth of One divinely ordained the Redeemer of Israel, offering salvation to the world, to change the course of history and, eventually, establish His own world-rule government. Indeed this is the consummation for which all Christians pray when they plead "Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done, in earth as it is in heaven."

What is not so well recognized is the fact that His birth inaugurated the great dividing of time. Thus He automatically receives the homage of everybody, even His enemies—atheists, humanists and unbelievers of every sort, for every time they sign a document or letter bearing date, or even mention a date in conversation, they unwittingly acknowledge Him. It is an inescapable fact. History attests it, and our calendars reckon time from the birth of Christ which ushered in the A.D. era (year of the Master.) How many ever think of this!

But custom seems more bent in honoring the god of mammon in extravagant commercialism and orgies of pleasure.

TURN TO CHRIST

There is a lot of suffering in the world, and as is very well known, all our economic systems are founded on profit, on exploitation, and usury.

Naturally, under such prevailing conditions, peace on earth is virtually impossible. We are all trapped by the presence of evil in this world, wherein we are prone to ask why God allows all the pain, suffering and corruption experienced by the human family.

Could the answer be found in our own shortcomings, or lack of understanding? Christ said, for all to read, "Ye shall not see me henceforth until ye shall say blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord." Do we perpetuate all tragedy and anguish by failing to comply with that simple reproach, and invitation?

COMMUNISM-SOCIALISM

Mr. George F. Sterling tries to answer my letter re the many failures of socialism throughout the world.

He apparently thinks what has occurred in Russia during the past 38 years is just a short period of the total time he thinks necessary to make despotic Russian Communism work.

He quoted Prof. Wiles. The wiles of Prof. Wiles are like his name. He is like a good many educational intellectuals who can't see the wood for the trees.

Speaking of greater production, Russia was exporting wheat in 1914 and now wants to import it as necessary to feed the proletariat and obtained from the tremendous production of the capitalist countries.

It applies to other than wheat, in fact nearly all products of farm and factory.

An increase of production of some things (mostly war materials) has been obtained at a terrible price. Lenin planned poverty, the better, so he thought, to enable him to overcome capitalism.

Mr. Luff's letter is so foolishly unreal it does not merit reply but he at least does not favor Russian Communism.

CONFLICT ON IMMIGRATION

May I comment on the statement of Mr. Pickersgill, minister of immigration, while in Victoria, that no race is barred from entry into Canada and your editorial, repeating his words. These statement are absolutely in conflict with what the Victoria immigration inspector told me about eventual immigration from Djakarta, Indonesia, into Canada of my daughter's children and husband.

PLANNING

We don't wish to hurt anyone's feelings, but if any of our city fathers think Victoria's environs reach only to Tolmie avenue and property in that vicinity is out in the woods, such thoughts bear no relation whatever to the facts.

The need for the judgment and services of planning engineers was never so obvious as at present in this area—men with wide experience behind them, a wide horizon before them. Civic bodies, including town planning commissions should include at least one member with those qualifications.

The proposal to use the Topaz Park, brickyard area for the dump and cover method of garbage disposal is ill-conceived, ill-considered. Anyone who has hitherto looked, or now looks upon, this area as a waste unsightly area of little value, has no comprehension of the overall needs of Greater Victoria, of adequate planning, and the opportunity it offers to transform this area into a useful, modernistic segment of a new and better city.

Rough terrain, or a building site that looks a shambles, doesn't mean a thing to planning engineers or the construction industry. How they can transform them is well known. That is their job.

All coastal cities are limited in their expansion to 50 per cent of their perimeter. This is particularly true of Victoria, at the end of an island. We have a congested business section, antiquated streets, a modern parking problem.

The brickyard area offers an excellent location and opportunity for a well planned wholesale warehouse section. Planned for efficient loading, unloading, and storage of goods brought from the mainland of Canada and the U.S.A. in carload lots. With all weather protection, ample parking space, etc.

The Canadian National and E & N Railways should combine their operations on the island (both being minor in any case), cross Douglas Street, between Kelvin and Alpha Streets, on to the Baker Brick and Tile property.

Evans, Coleman and Johnson Bros. could be asked to expedite removal of clay deposits still available on their property and to store finished products, and remove plant elsewhere.

DAY OF PRAYER—EVERY DAY

Reading of the robberies, drug addicts, etc., I feel it is time we, the ordinary citizen, stop criticizing and give our moral support to those whose duty it is to hold crime in check, and what better way is there than a day of prayer—every day?

I would ask every citizen to join me in reading each day from the Bible. At least, Ecclesiastes 7:29; Psalms 107: 6, 8, 20; Psalms 91; repeat the Lord's Prayer and then take a few quiet moments in realizing this is Truth.

SAINTS, DEVILS AND ORDINARY HALLOWEEN

Your correspondent H. G. Howard states that Canadians seem to be completely ignorant of the meaning of All Halloween and mentions "more civilized countries."

Long before Christianity was introduced in the British Isles and some countries in Europe there was a thriving religion there—witchcraft.

The adherents had their meetings usually at night on the heath—hence the word "heathen."

The circle had a special significance so they joined hands and formed circles and then believed they had entered another less material world.

In some parts of England there still remain relics of these ancient rites. In Ireland I have seen circles of bushes or stones with which no one would dare to interfere.

Christianity fought against this religion for years—it is claimed that about six thousand so-called witches were burned.

The adherents of this cult had great festivals or "sabbats." Christianity superimposed its ideas on these feasts.

Yuletide, when they sang hymns of joy to the sun who was going to come back again, was turned into our festival of Christmas, but traces of the ancient feast remain—holly, mistletoe, burning of the plum pudding and the Yule log.

The spring "sabbat" of fertility was turned into our Easter, but we still have Easter eggs.

Their third "sabbat" took place on the last day of November, when all sorts of magic and occult rites were enjoyed and the fairies, ghosts, goblins, elves had a hilarious time.

This was turned into our Halloween but in some mysterious manner the ancient essence of the older feast remains.

The persecution of these people was so intense that many went "underground." The "garter" was significant, being circular and was said to have been worn as a secret symbol.

The origin of the "Order of the Garter" is thought to have had its origin in the plight of the lady whose garter fell down, exposing her as a secret witch. Luckily she was rescued by the nimble wit of her escort—"Honi soit qui mal y pense!"

NORTH FROM KING'S CROSS

Mr. Bruce Hutchison is certainly adept at giving a sharp rap over the knuckles. Positively wizard he is.

Well well well! I must say I agree that the cheap sensational press of England reached the summit of impropriety regarding the Royal Romance.

I wonder if Mr. Hutchison has ever visited England? I fear not or he would know that the people of England do not feed on those papers but buy them chiefly to glance at during train journeys to avoid the tedium of looking at fellow passengers sitting opposite to them with never a word spoken.

Who knows? Mr. Hutchison might have fallen under the spell of the "Old Country" like their interesting columnist Wallace Reyburn who cast aside Canada's "standard of living"—the be all and end all of achievement! — choosing the dear little land with all her faults and foibles.

Doubtless Canada's own Bruce would dwell with those two fellow countrymen who have won their frills and fripperies., Lord Beaverbrook and Sir Beverly Baxter who are largely responsible for cheap sensational journalism. Nobody thought of buying the Express. No Sir!

I fain would take a train to the North from King's Cross buying the Daily Mail from one of those paper boys again, and ensconced in a comfortable corner see the familiar landscape with its ever green fields as we near the first stop, Grantham. But it cannot be. One link however binds me to her.

Whenever I find The Sunday Times in our letter box I get a thrill for I know it will be packed with good things. Sixteen papers for $1 only, from the 14th of August to the 18th of this month, and the Victoria Daily Times boy will ask $1.50 for a month. Now I ask you?

TRADITION

Old ways die hard—and very old ones even harder, as I was reminded outside Abingdon the other afternoon. There every one of half a dozen stacks was crowned with a dolly—those little straw ornaments that go back 2,000 years to Roman days, and probably even further. They used to represent Ceres, the corn goddess; now they may be a peacock, or a fish, or a horse's head. I've even seen an airplane—a very far cry from Roman goddesses.

A WOMAN'S OUTLOOK

By RUTH ENKE

Where's Christmas

WHAT'S that? You ask where Christmas is? My dear, how should I know? I guess it's in a thousand different places.

It's in the quiet of the woods when we go to gather Christmas greens. And that means chilly hands and chilly feet and fingers that fumble a little when they're stiff with cold.

Ruth

It's bright bunches of traditional greens hanging on white front doors, and trees all lighted in the various picture windows.

For cooks-and-mothers, it's the spicy smells in the kitchen and giblets simmering in the gravy, and anxious thoughts about the perfection of the turkey. Fork-pricked shortbread, fat plum pudding, mince pies steaming just a little—that's where Christmas is for lots of women.

See the crimson glow of cranberry sauce. Hear the crunch of celery. (Eat that olive bravely. Be sophisticated and pretend you like it. An acquired taste, they'll tell you. But after 40, darling, you can be yourself and say you simply hate the wretched things!)

Brazil nuts, angular and hard to crack, almonds blanched and salted, little round hazel nuts, curled-up peel of Jap orange, cold, purplish grapes—all these are part of Christmas, too.

Wine glasses sparkling clean, silver polished up for once, fat little liqueur glasses round and richly colored—these, too, will be there at Christmas.

* * *

For some, you'll find, Christmas is nothing more than a good old burst of pagan gluttony when faces grow moist and red, girdles pinch and belts have to be loosened just a little. But gluttony, once a year, is lovely, too.

But there's another side to Christmas. It's in the long line-up at the liquor store in a booming town, and in the $20 bills shoved across the counter. It's the habitual drunk lying in the gutter, and the fights that break out in brawling homes. It's the ghastly car accident when drunken laughter turns to screaming pain.

Christmas, dear, is in parents worrying over money, and denying themselves to give presents unto others.

There's the Christmas of youth when pretty girls dress in lovely gowns and dance lightly on feet that never seem to tire. And boys who normally slop around in jeans and T-shirts are forced into proper collars and ties, and really look like something for a change!

* * *

You'll find the sad and lonely side of Christmas in shabby, little rooms where the poor and old keep themselves warm with memories, and cherish their few cards more dearly than do those who receive them by the hundred.

There's the Christmas of the hospital where some of the sick wish for nothing more than an end to pain.

Each Christmas, darling, will, unknowingly, be a last Christmas for many people. But remember always that that same Christmas will be a first one for many more.

Remember, too, the disgruntled crossness of people who want no share in what they think is a ruddy racket, and who insist that Christmas is just another day.

Think, too, of the sadness of those who mourn some close friend or relative, and for whom the dinner table seems unreal without the dear, familiar face.

You may, perhaps, find Christmas in the Communion Service on Christmas Eve, and in the tired white face of the minister whose weary body is upheld by an ecstasy of the spirit.

* * *

No, I can't explain Christmas to you, darling. You'll find out all about it for yourself as you go through the growing years that last a lifetime.

But if I could have a wish for you, I'd wish that you may escape the cynicism, the avarice, the sadness, and the lack of moderation. I'd wish that you may come to realize that—pagan, physical and spiritual—Christmas is one time the world couldn't do without.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

VC's From Russian Guns

LONDON—I didn't know until now that every Victoria Cross is made from metal originally produced by the Russians. The Victoria Cross as an award is now 100 years old. It was in 1855 that the London jewelry firm of Hancocks & Co. submitted the first medal to Queen Victoria for her approval and the metal used in the casting was bronze from Russian guns captured at Sebastopol.

Reyburn

Since then all VC's have been made by Hancocks and all of that Russian bronze. To date there have been 1,347 winners of the award and since a VC weighs only three-quarters of an ounce, less than 100 pounds of the metal has been used up and there is plenty to spare for generations to come.

Last time any VC's were cast was in 1946 and of these Hancocks have nine left in their vaults. It's an interesting fact that although it is the most valued award of them all, its intrinsic value is much less than many other medals. Each one costs about $5 to make. The George Cross, of silver, costs more than twice as much.

Though it is thought by many to be a purely military award, it can be won by civilians and four have already done so. Likewise it is not an all-male award. Women are eligible.

A TIP FOR SKIERS—This is no great country for skiing, for the self-evident reason that there ain't much snow around. However, those people who do ski (in the Highlands of Scotland, around England whenever snow turns up and—mostly—at St. Moritz and other Continental spots) are ardent enthusiasts.

One such is a chemistry professor at Cambridge, Dr. F. P. Bowden. He has brought a scientific approach to the sport and has found that there is something much better than wax for giving your skis a good surface. He says that a plastic substance called Polytetraflourethyelene is the thing.

In one test a run he did with waxed skis took him 83 seconds and when he switched to the plastic he did the same run in 54 seconds. From now on, presumably, it will be common to hear at ski lodges, "I'll be right with you as soon as I've polytetra-flourethylened my skis."

HORATIO BOTTOMLEY was a famous name in Britain. In the 1920s folks had good reason to know Bottomley, notorious politician, crusading magazine editor and swindler. I remember as a youngster I heard the name frequently and didn't know much about him except that he always seemed to be organizing bogus companies, going to jail, then launching further frauds. He was such a persuasive talker that apparently the suckers would cheerfully return for more.

This generation can now learn precisely what Bottomley was all about by the medium of his just published life by Julian Symons. Included is the story of a visitor to a prison seeing Bottomley stitching some mailbags.

"Sewing, I see," said the visitor. "No," was the reply, "reaping."

New Lead Seen In Slaying Of Policeman

VANCOUVER, (CP) — Rewards totalling $6,000 have brought in "information of some value" in the investigation into the gun-slaying of a Vancouver policeman a week ago, acting police chief Alan Rossiter said Wednesday.

The acting chief said his men were checking taxi firms in the hope of finding a driver who may have picked up a suspicious fare in the vicinity of the shooting of Constable Gordon Sinclair, 41.

"We are checking taxi drivers' records and I am unable to say at this time what we have found," Rossiter said.

Meanwhile, more than $2,800 has been donated to a fund to aid the slain policeman's family.

PUNCH, COFFEE ONLY

Hard Liquor Dropped At Governor's Fete

Hard liquor will be dropped from the refreshment list this year at the annual New Year's Day reception at Government House.

A Government House spokesman says coffee and punch will be served visitors at the reception which will be held Monday, January 2.

The punch, it was noted, will be alcoholic.

Another change from previous years will be in the hours of reception.

Between 11 a.m. and 11.30 will be reserved for officials—the premier and cabinet, civic officials and service officers.

MANY CALLS

Reason for this procedure, the spokesman said, is that officials have so many other calls to make that it is considered necessary to let them call on the lieutenant-governor early and carry on.

Between 11.30 a.m. and 1 p.m., the general public is invited to pay its respects. During this time Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross will receive.

The allotment of time is the same procedure followed at Ottawa on New Year's Day.

MIDDLEWEIGHT NOW

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP) — Gil Turner will campaign permanently as a middleweight, he announced today, because he had the "new strength" to win an unexpectedly hard fight with handsome young Jackie Labua Wednesday night in their TV-radio 10-rounder at War Memorial Auditorium.

John's Flight to West Described by Rescuer

Danish Newsman Played Leading Role In Taking Spy Past Communist Guards

Hendrik Bonde-Hendriksen, Berlin correspondent of Denmark's largest newspaper, Berlingske Tidende, sat in a parking lot in Communist East Berlin and waited. He was joined casually, very casually, by a communist catch who had eluded his Red guards—Otto John, the former West German spy chief. This is Bonde-Hendriksen's own story.

By H. BONDE-HENDRIKSEN
Copyright 1955
By the Associated Press

SOMEWHERE IN WEST GERMANY (AP)—It was Dec. 12 in Berlin. The hour was 4.52 p.m. Behind us was the Brandenburg gate. I was driving slowly toward the West Berlin customs control post.

At my side in the car sat Dr. Otto John, slightly disguised with glasses and a pipe. It was bitterly cold and the freezing customs officers who recognized my car waved me through. Close by the victory column I stopped. Tears were streaming down Dr. John's cheeks.

"How wonderful that this nightmare is over," he said. "I couldn't stand it much longer. If we had been caught I was just hoping for a chance to commit suicide."

I asked Dr. John what actually happened on July 20, 1954, the day when he left the West. He told this story:

"Could any of my friends believe that I had passed the sector line voluntarily? Around 8 p.m. I visited Dr. Wohlgemuth at his Uhlandstrasse clinic.

"What happened after that time I don't know. I woke up two days later in Karlshorst. There was a woman doctor at my bed. And there were Soviet intelligence agents around. I was given an injection and later another one. My head was not clear.

"After the Aug. 11 press conference in East Berlin I honestly believed that I was free to go back to West Berlin when the press conference was over. But Soviet agents cordoned me off. Immediately after the conference I was flown to Moscow.

"Here I was detained for a couple of weeks and I was almost questioned to death. Then I was two months on the Crimea. Twelve months ago Tuesday I was back in East Berlin and placed under surveillance of the East German security service."

Otto John began to tremble. He asked if we would reach Tempelhof in time. I told him that two seats were reserved in the 5:45 plane, one for Dr. Fischer (Otto John) and another for Dr. Vogel (Bonde-Hendriksen) and that we would be in time.

Let me disclose some facts about my connection with Dr. John.

At a meeting with State Secretary Dr. Strauss, from the federal ministry of justice, I asked him what would happen if Dr. John reappeared in West Germany. Well aware that I often saw John, Dr. Strauss said:

"Tell him that he can return without risk. He will probably not be arrested but, naturally, we shall have questions to ask."

I passed the message on to Dr. John.

Socred Linked To Phone 'War' On Quebec Mayor

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Mayor Armand Nadeau said today he has been subjected to a telephone barrage every five minutes of the day and night since a new civic budget was adopted Monday.

In a prepared statement, the mayor appealed for an end to the telephone calls, saying that they are disrupting his civic and personal affairs.

He said the callers give whoever answers the telephone in his home, office or city hall a lengthy discourse on the benefits of Social Credit.

He said the telephone campaign started after he refused demands of a Social Credit delegation that he make Sherbrooke a tax-free city.

In its 1956 budget, adopted following the delegation's visit, the city provided for some sharp tax increases.

MHO GIVES WARNING

Be Sure Toddlers' Christmas Toy Safe

Victoria — Esquimalt medical health officer today appealed to parents to avoid toys which could cause death or serious accidents to their children.

She warned against darts, guns and sharp-edged tools. "Marbles may be fine for older children but for infants and toddlers they are an extremely hazardous gift."

Stuffed animals with glass button eyes should never be given to toddlers, she stated and said toys which are too heavy for a child, ill-made, unbalanced or complicated should be left on the counter.

Dr. Mahaffey's gift list is headed by the memo:

"Don't overlook the advantages of making toys out of such simple material as orange crates, spools, oatmeal boxes and wood."

Here are her safe-shopping suggestions:

For babies up to 1½ years—Rubber or washable dolls and animals, round-cornered blocks, well-made rattles, brightly-colored strings of rounded objects.

For toddlers up to four years—Peg boards, push-and-pull toys, tricycles, crayons, blocks, dolls, modern trains, drums, costumes, big balls and books.

Kindergarteners, up to six, can safely play with blackboards, dustless chalk, simple construction sets, finger paints, crayons, coloring books, doll houses, skipping ropes balls, costumes and clay puzzles.

School-age youngsters may be trusted in most cases with lightweight tools, construction sets, roller skates, ice skates, wagons, puzzles, games, sewing materials, dolls, hobby sets, approved electric train, musical instruments, science sets, cameras, books, radios, record players, sports equipment, watches and typewriters.

On food, the doctor says be sure to cook the turkey well; rare fowl is unsafe. Don't leave the turkey unroasted overnight with the stuffing stuffed and remove it after the Christmas meal.

Further hints for a safe Christmas may be obtained from the city health department, 1947 Cook, by telephoning 4-4062.

CCL CALLS FOR BOOST IN TAX-EXEMPT INCOME

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor today urged higher income tax exemptions.

In its annual brief to the government the 400,000-member body proposed basic income tax exemptions of $2,000 for single persons and $3,000 for married with a $400 exemption for each child qualifying for family allowance or attending school.

Unionists Warn PM, 2nd Time in 2 Days

OTTAWA (BUP)—Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent was told today, for the second time in two days, that Canadian unionists object to federal-imposed compulsory arbitration in their industrial strife.

The Trades and Labor Congress told him so Monday in its annual brief to the government, and it was the Canadian Congress of Labor's turn today. The CCL said compulsory arbitration belonged to the statute books of totalitarian regimes.

Mr. St. Laurent indicated yesterday that the government would not hesitate to take action toward compulsory settlement of a dispute between Canada's railways and their non-operating employees if another strike is threatened.

The government did not intend to interfere with the normal labor conciliation structure, he said, but when a national railway strike was threatened before, the government imposed compulsory arbitration because Canada's whole economic structure would have been affected.

Mr. St. Laurent hinted that the government would make the legislation stick if another such national emergency arose.

GENOA, Italy (Reuters) — Twenty-five mail bags, containing Christmas mail from the United States and Canada, were destroyed by fire Wednesday on a barge tied to the 7,000-ton American ship Exford in Genoa harbor.

Parks Group Recommends Rent System

Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee wound up the year's work Wednesday with the decision to tear down the Gorge side promenade beneath Gorge Bridge.

It was also decided to install a heating plant at Mount Douglas Park concession. Both items will be brought to attention of the incoming committee for follow-up action.

A new Gorge promenade was approved for construction this year and tenders will be called later.

The discussion on the Mount Douglas heating plant drew criticism from Ald. Robert Macmillan. He thought that inasmuch as the concession is leased for $1 a year, the concessionaires should be responsible for their own improvements.

But Alderman Smith agreed that a system of rents would be proper for all parks concessions

Over protest of Mayor Claude Harrison and Saanich Clr. George Austin, it was recommended to the incoming committee that consideration be given to the rent suggestion.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Board 'Just Pawn', Chairman Resigns

WILLIAMS LAKE (CP)—Hilary Place, chairman of the Williams Lake School Board has resigned, charging the board is a "political pawn" of the B.C. government. The move followed by two weeks the resignation of trustee Fred Bass who said the board was being "used as a tool." Mr. Place said the school board's present financial predicament was "a direct result of the government's desire to show a reduction of the provincial debt."

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP)—Two Whalley mothers said in an an interview Wednesday they would neither apologize for their charges of students being drunk at a Queen Elizabeth High School dance nor attend a school board meeting to identify the students they said were intoxicated.

Mrs. W. Bushell and Mrs. Margaret Scheer made the statement after the Surrey school board insisted they back up their charges or make an apology.

Mrs. Bushell said because they did not attend the dance it would be impossible for them to identify the students. They said they obtained their information from students who were present.

The women said they would submit the matter to Education Minister Williston.

PENTICTON (CP)—Hearing of a claim for unstated damages involving a shooting accident last January in which 16-year-old Glendine Hatfield was paralyzed from the waist down opened here Wednesday. Defendant is J. T. Pearson and his son, David, alleged to have held the gun when it discharged and sent a bullet into the girl's spine.

NELSON (CP) — Thomas Henry Waters, former mayor of Nelson and freeman of the city, died in hospital Wednesday. Health of the 71-year-old pioneer contractor had been failing since 1952 when he retired.

MISSION CITY (CP)—Ernest Paul, 42, crew member of a tug towing a passenger barge across the Fraser river here narrowly escaped drowning Wednesday when he slipped on the tug's deck and fell into the river. He was carried 30 feet downstream in the icy river before rescue.

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Junior and senior chambers of commerce in Prince Rupert have backed a special city council brief urging Frobisher-Ventures Ltd. to establish a smelter in the city.

Frobisher-Ventures has proposed a $50,000,000 hydro and metallurgical project on the Nass river, 1,000 miles north of Prince Rupert.

Armless Driver, Chased at 106, Acquitted By Jury

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—An armless motorist was acquitted Wednesday of speeding and reckless driving charges.

Edward E. Higgins, 29, who drives with his feet, was cleared by a peace court jury after only 25 minutes' deliberation.

Higgins, a used car dealer at Pueblo, Colo., was arrested Nov. 25 by undersheriff Clinton H. Haugh, who said he chased Higgins' car at speeds up to 106 miles an hour.

Church Leaders Hail U.S. Giveaway Plan

Surplus Will Feed 10 Million; Will Start Moving January 1

WASHINGTON (UP)—Elated church leaders said today America's new "Share Our Surplus" program will provide free food for more than 10,000,000 hungry families all over the world.

They said relief food packages, drawn from the vast U.S. store of surplus farm commodities, will start moving abroad by Jan. 1. Altogether, more than 1,000,000,000 pounds of wheat, flour, corn, meat, syrup, dried beans, rice, dairy products and cottonseed oil will be distributed to the needy in 67 countries.

Even these shipments, however, will barely dent the government's tremendous hoard of surplus farm products. The amount of what involved, for example, will be about 8,000,000 bushels, out of a total of 920,000,000 bushels now in storage.

The government's decision to release the surplus foods to church agencies and other charitable organizations won prompt and widespread public support. The decision was announced by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson Tuesday.

Protestant, Catholic and Jewish religious leaders, who had long been urging Benson to take the step, were jubilant at what one of them called "a magnificent victory for human brotherhood."

Republicans and Democrats in Congress, farm organizations and diplomatic officials also expressed warm approval of the action as an appropriate Christmas-time expression of America's good will toward less fortunate people of other lands.

Rivera's Cancer Cured By Russian Treatments

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Diego Rivera's private secretary said Wednesday that the famed Mexican muralist is "completely cured of cancer" and hopes to return to Mexico from Russia about Jan. 20.

Teresa Proenza told a reporter that a radioactive cobalt treatment has cured Rivera. Russian specialists have been treating him for skin cancer for several months.

Sunday Sport For Vancouver

Controversial Issue Receives Slim Margin; NPA Sweeps Seats

VANCOUVER (CP) — Voters in Vancouver's civic elections declared approval of commercial Sunday sport in counting completed early today.

At the same time, the non-mayoralty vote sent 12 Non-Partisan Association candidates into office, sweeping all the seats at stake on city council and the school and park boards.

The NPA is a right-wing group active in city politics in Vancouver.

The count for all 90 polls on the sports issue was 38,031 in favor and 36,124 against. A simple majority was required for approval.

The plebiscite empowers city council to ask the provincial government for the right to amend its charter to allow sports, for which admission is charged, to be played between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The only other referendum was on a by-law empowering the city to spend $1,000,000 for assembly of land for residential and industrial development. It was defeated but final totals were not immediately available.

The plebiscite — main issue this year—was the third on Sunday sports in the last five years. In 1950 the proposal was rejected 34,571 to 25,051 and again the following year by 31,091 to 24,813.

Campaigning for and against was brisk in a city just moving into the big-time of sport.

In 1954 Vancouver took to the gridiron, entering British Columbia Lions in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. This year the Vancouver Mounties took over the Oakland, Calif., baseball franchise and next season will play in the Pacific Coast League, just one step below the majors.

Aldermen Jonathan Cornett, George Cunningham, Mrs. Anna Sprott and Donald E. McTaggart went back into office over a strong slate of independents, several of whom had the endorsation of the Labor-Progressive Communist party.

The aldermanic vote still left Vancouver short one member on city council. A by-election is scheduled for Feb. 1 to fill the vacancy left by the death of Birt Showler, veteran Labor leader.

Defeated were eight candidates running as independent but endorsed by the Communists. One of them, Mona Morgan, sought a seat on the school board. She is the wife of Nigel Morgan, provincial leader of the party. She trailed the field.

Effie Jones, retired school teacher and veteran campaigner under the Labor-Progressive banner for a variety of civic posts, came eighth out of 14 candidates for civic council.

There will be no mayoralty election until next year. Mayor Fred Hume was re-elected in 1954 to a two-year term.

Yule Cheer Certificates Proposed Here

Regular Christmas visitors to Victoria may receive a decorated certificate making them members of the Victorian Order of Christmas Cheer.

Author of the idea is Arnold Webb, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group—and members of the group, meeting Wednesday night, thought it a good one.

"I would like to see Christmas in Victoria acclaimed as an internationally-known institution," Mr. Webb said. "And everyone who returns to his home town from here is an ambassador for Victoria.

"The Empress Hotel makes a tremendous Christmas effort every year—but I think this effort could be extended to cover the whole city."

Sam Lane proposed that visitors to other hotels should be given mementos of their visit.

Bribed Thugs Blamed for Tram Riots

MONTREAL (CP)—The Herald says police are investigating reports that bribed hoodlums, paid $1 or $2 for their work, either caused or fanned the flames of the tram-fare riot here last Friday.

The newspaper said police sources refused comment on question: "Who did the bribing?" High command officers said they agreed the rioting followed an innocent student protest parade, and was made dangerous and damaging by what they described as leather-jacketed thugs.

Inspector Georges Allain, chief of the detective bureau, was quoted by the newspaper as saying that his office has received reports that an unknown number of rioters were paid to get the vandalism going and to keep it going.

Building and equipment is described as among the best and most efficient in Canada.

CHICAGO (AP) — A giant Christmas card went on display Tuesday night when the Merchandise Mart's annual greeting was lighted. Across the top in illuminated letters two storeys high, are the words, "Peace on Earth."

Museum Displaying B.C. Flora Paintings

An exhibition of paintings of B.C. flowers, shrubs and trees opened today at the Provincial Museum.

The display includes 150 paintings, representing the best work of B.C. artists since 1890. They include water colors, pen and ink, lino cuts, oil paintings, silk screen, airbrush and scratchboard.

Dr. Adam F. Szczawinski, museum botanist, who prepared the exhibition, said: "None of the drawings has been exhibited before. Every artist who has contributed outstanding work on B.C. flora is represented."

The paintings include some by the late Miss M. Heathfield and Mrs. S. Stoker, both of whom painted striking water colors of B.C. flora at the turn of the century.

There is also a fine collection of paintings by Miss Betty Newton.

The display will continue until April 1.

Pair Caught With $500,000 In Stolen Gems

JOHANNESBURG (CP) —Detectives surprised two men in a luxurious hotel room here Wednesday night and seized a cardboard box containing the stolen Oppenheimer jewels—worth more than $500,000.

Police and insurance investigators acted swiftly on a tip-off to recover "98 per cent" of the collection stolen from a wall safe at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oppenheimer 10 days ago. The two men were arrested.

Arrest of a third man was announced today. No details were given.

Remove Peron Relics

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters)—The Argentine government has ordered three men to climb more than 21,000 feet up Aconagua—the western hemisphere's highest mountain — to bring down statues of deposed dictator Juan Peron and Eva Peron from ledges where they were placed during the Peron regime.

Soviets End UN Deadlock

Vetoes Withdrawn Except On Outer Mongolia, Japan

By JACK BEST

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Ten years of deadlock and frustration came to an end Wednesday night as the United Nations elected 16 new members into its ranks.

A new move by Russia, only 24 hours after 15 Soviet vetoes had buried a Canadian-sponsored proposal to admit 18 applicants, made the 16-member UN's membership rolls to 76.

Omitted from the original list of 18 were Japan, vetoed twice in as many days by Russia, and Outer Mongolia, vetoed by Nationalist China Tuesday in the move which touched off the flood of Soviet vetoes.

After the Tuesday session of the Security Council in which the 18-member proposal was killed there was sharp criticism of Russia and Nationalist China.

EMERGENCY SESSION

Then, at 4 p.m. Wednesday, the council met in emergency session at Russia's request.

Soviet delegate Arkady A. Sobolev quickly got to the point. After blasting Nationalist China's veto of Outer Mongolia as the cause for the package plan's failure, he made this announcement:

"Wishing to co-operate, the Soviet Union withdraws its negative vote to the series of countries. The Soviet Union will vote in favor of their admission with the exception of Japan, bearing in mind that the question of Japan and the Mongolian People's Republic Outer Mongolia which did not yield positive recommendation be postponed for consideration by the next session of the assembly."

CHINA OUSTER THREATENED

Angered over China's action against Outer Mongolia, a number of delegates had threatened to join in a move to unseat Formosa's representative. But the outcome of the stalemate may have softened this feeling.

Of the new members 12 are supported by the West and four by the Communist powers.

A General Assembly session, which completed action on the newcomers, was slowed only by the necessity of polling the members on each of the 16 applicants—Albania, Austria, Bulgaria, Cambodia, Ceylon, Finland, Hungary, Italy, Ireland, Jordan, Laos, Romania, Libya, Nepal, Portugal and Spain.

Before Wednesday's action only nine countries had gained admission to the UN since its founding 10 years ago. The last was Indonesia in 1950.

KEY FIGURES IN ENDING OF UN DEADLOCK

Unexpected reversal by Russia's Arkady A. Sobolev, resulted in seating of 14 new members at UN general assembly today. Russian vetoes Tuesday killed Canada's "package deal" to admit 16 nations. On Wednesday Russia changed mind, agreed to election of all except Outer Mongola and Japan.

Variety of Political Systems Represented by New UN Members

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A new look, new voices and some new issues are in prospect for the UN.

The 16 new member countries endorsed Wednesday represent more than 156,000,000 people—better than 6 per cent of the world's population. They come from vastly varying racial backgrounds and are governed by a variety of political systems.

A look in brief at each of the 16:

Albania — A Community country of 10,629 square miles, has 1,175,000 people. It has had differences with neighbors Greece and Yugoslavia and an old quarrel with Britain over shipping in the Corfu channel.

Austria — A democratic country of 32,369 square miles and almost 7,000,000 German-speaking people, is already represented in all the UN specialized agencies.

Bulgaria—A Communist country of 42,798 square miles and 7,160,000 people lines up with the Soviet bloc.

Cambodia—An Asian kingdom of 88,780 square miles and 1,189,000 people is a former part of French Indo-China and striving to beat off encroaching Reds from North Viet Nam.

Ceylon — A member of the Commonwealth, is an island of 25,332 square miles and 8,269,000 population 30 miles off the southeastern end of India. It is one of the recipients in the Commonwealth Colombo plan for aiding underdeveloped countries.

Finland — A neighbor of the Soviet Union, has a population of 4,164,500 and a land area of 130,165 square miles. Finland has a treaty of friendship and economic aid with Russia but has many ties with the West.

Hungary — A Communist country of 35,902 square miles and 9,600,000 people. It is almost sure to come under censure from predominantly Roman Catholic countries, which charge its Red regime with persecution of Catholics.

Italy—The largest new member country with a total of 47,138,235 people. Its government stands firmly with the West in NATO.

Ireland — Some Irish oratory is bound to be heard, perhaps calling for union with British-ruled Northern Ireland. The Irish Republic has a population of 2,942,000 and a land area of 27,137 square miles.

Jordan — A militarily strong Arab desert kingdom of 37,500 square miles and 1,500,000 population occupies a strategic spot in the Palestine picture. Jordan occupies the old city of Jerusalem—site of holy shrines for Christians, Moslems and Jews.

Laos—Like neighbor Cambodia, it is a kingdom formerly part of French Indo-China. It has an area of 69,460 square miles and a population of 3,227,000.

Libya—An Arab kingdom of 679,358 square miles with only 1,340,000 people.

Nepal—A strategic Himalayan kingdom of 54,000 square miles has a common frontier with Tibet, which now is under control of Communist China. It faces the same problem as did Tibet, but the fate of its population of more than 8,500,000 remains under the eye of powerful neighbor India.

Portugal — A member of NATO, its area covers only 35,446 square miles but it has a population of 8,621,000.

Romania — Another Communist country of 91,584 square miles, with a population of 15,873,000.

Spain—The only country ever specifically barred from the UN by action of the General Assembly in 1946. The Latin-American nations in the UN led the drive for Spain's admission, stressing their link with the 28,500,000 population in what they call their mother country.

Civil Servant For 45 Years Ending Career

A long career with the department of transport will end next month for G. E. Hartnell, a native of Victoria, who served 45 years with the civil service.

Mr. Hartnell, an accountant, will retire on January 10, his 67th birthday.

He entered the civil service in 1911. In 1920 he was appointed a junior purchasing agent and accountant for the department of transport, a dual position which he held until 1950.

Mr. Hartnell relinquished the purchasing job in 1950 when arrival on the west coast of weatherships doubled departmental personnel.

A veteran of the First World War, Mr. Hartnell has lived all his life in Victoria.

"I would never think of living anywhere else," he said, "and I intend to stay here."

Power Body Defends Job Award

Awarding of a B.C. Power Commisison contract to a Montreal rather than a Vancouver firm, though the latter's bid was lower, was because the eastern firm's machines would "give better performance in a greater capacity."

A BCPC spokesman was answering protests by the Vancouver Labor Council and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) on the contract award.

The Canadian Allis Chalmers Ltd. bid of $1,005,535 was accepted, despite a bid $21,000 less by Vancouver Iron Works Ltd. for supply and installation of two turbines and penstock valves at the commission's Upper Campbell Lake power development.

Y's Men's Club Christmas party will be held Saturday, with members meeting at the home of John Duncan, 2952 Gosworth, at 7 p.m.

Dinner will be held at 8 p.m. in the Montery Restaurant.

YANK POWER MAY COST ST. PETE COOL 50 G's

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—The city of St. Petersburg will have to do something about the heavy-hitting of the New York Yankees and small boys who chase baseballs.

One home-run ball may cost the city $50,000.

The State Supreme Court has ordered the Pinellas County circuit court to hear a $50,000 damage suit brought by Nelson F. Woodford against the city of St. Petersburg where the Yankees train.

Woodford claimed a flying wedge of small boys bowled him over and inflicted a permanent back injury when they were chasing a ball hit out of the park during the 1954 spring practise. The hitter was not identified.

RANGER CHANGES DUE

Blues Humming Sadder Tune

Chicago 4, New York 1
By The Canadian Press

Don't be surprised if New York Rangers undergo a few player changes.

The New Yorkers lost their third straight National Hockey League game Wednesday night—a 4-1 defeat to Chicago Black Hawks at New York. The result could be the cue for coach Phil Watson to call in some reserves from Ranger farm teams.

Earlier in the season Watson said if the team wasn't going right at any time, he would bring up some new talent.

"There won't be any favorites on this club," he said.

The win moved Chicago into third place, seven points behind the Rangers. Montreal Canadiens, in first place with 43 points, have a 10-point margin over Rangers. Detroit Red Wings hold the fourth position with 25 points, two ahead of fifth-place Toronto Maple Leafs. Boston Bruins are in the cellar, a point behind Toronto.

SECOND HOME LOSS

A crowd of 8,508 saw the Blueshirts lose their second home game of the season and their first to the Hawks in six starts. It was the Hawks' first win in their last six contests.

Allan Stanley, Jack McIntyre, Nick Mickoski and Glen Skov fired the Chicago goals. Larry Popein scored for New York.

New York goaltender Lorne Worsley had his softest night of the campaign as he had only 19 saves to make. Al Rollins handled 32 Ranger drives.

Three games are scheduled for tonight. Rangers visit Montreal while Toronto is at Detroit and Chicago plays at Boston.

AAU Begins Full Probe Of Amateurs

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union committee to investigate amateurism in sports, including the case of Wes Santee, is already at work, Dan Ferris said Wednesday.

Ferris, who is secretary-treasurer of the AAU, declined to reveal the names of the committee members. One of their duties will be to inquire into excessive expense account demands of track meet competitors.

Santee, starry Kansas miler, was suspended Oct. 30 by the Missouri Valley AAU on charges he accepted large expense accounts for track meets in California. He was reinstated Nov. 20 by the Missouri Valley board of governors.

Sam Hot, But Lionel Hotter

SANFORD, Fla. (BUP). — Sam Snead's golf game remained red-hot today as he took on a field of 131 shotmakers in the first annual $15,000 Mayfair Open tournament.

The veteran West Virginian, who won the Miami Open with a sensational finish last week, posted a hot 66 in a pro-amateur event Wednesday to add to his favoritism as the man to beat.

However, Lionel Hebert, pudgy Erie, Pa., club pro, got hotter to match the course record of 65, five strokes under par, and beat Snead in the one-day affair.

TITLE BOUT DUE

EDMONTON (CP) — Canadian welterweight boxing champion Tony Percy of Montreal may fight Al Marotti of Edmonton in a title match here early in the new year, promoter Pat Giannone said Wednesday.

Rugby Whites To Meet Blues

Only Victoria Rugby Union action scheduled this weekend will have JBAA Whites meeting JBAA Blues at Carnarvon Park Saturday at 2.

Tentatively scheduled for Boxing Day at Macdonald Park is an exhibition match between Victoria and Vancouver rep teams, while also tentatively scheduled is a match between Navy of Victoria's second division and Barbarians of the Mainland second division.

HEPBURN A SVELTE 280 NOW

Doug Digs the Life Of Caddies, Cigars

By DENNY BOYD

The way Doug Hepburn tells the story, there were two wrestlers coming out of a restaurant one morning.

They passed by an auto show-room and spotted a long, luxurious Cadillac.

One wrestler said, "I like that car. I think I'll buy it."

The other wrestler replied, "No, you bought breakfast. The car's on me."

Doug tells this story any time fans ask him if he is making any money in professional wrestling.

The telling of the story must give ample satisfaction to the ample package of muscles, who failed to cash in any more than bare pocket money on his fame as a world champion weight-lifter in his heavier and younger days of two years ago.

Hepburn, anxious to find a payroll tailored to his girth, turned to the mat game under the twist-and-pull teachings of Whipper Billy Watson.

"Yes," Doug mused over the telephone from Vancouver Wednesday night, "it's not a bad life if you can stand those Cadillacs and the steaks and the dollar cigars."

Hepburn had just finished wrestling, and defeating, Jack Dillon, "a tough guy, around 250 pounds," and he was telling how anxious he was to see Victoria again.

"The last time I was in Victoria, the folks there gave me a grand reception. I would say that the people in Victoria are more friendly than in Vancouver."

Hepburn is down to 280 pounds now, a radical departure from his weight-lifting tonnage of close to 350 pounds.

"I look a lot better now and my wind is better. I've been fighting all across Canada and we've been selling the house out everywhere."

Hepburn's ring piece-de-resistance is a bit of skullduggery called the reverse bear-hug, except that said opponent is upside down, having his brains scrambled and any loose change in his trunks shaken out.

Tonight, Hepburn will be a-huggin' and a-shakin' with Pat Fraley, a 250-pound patch of meanness who doesn't cotton to being humped about like a deceased fish.

They tangle in the main event of a three-bout card at Victoria Ballroom, starting at 8.30.

And, after the brawl is over, Doug will eat a large steak, ignite a dollar cigar and roar off into the night in his Cadillac.

SOCCER'S STEP-OVER HOLD

Halfback Joe Robbins will be counted on Saturday to take such steps as this when Victoria Strathconas seek their second straight Coast Soccer League win at Athletic Park against Vancouver Pilseners. Here Joe seems to be using a Halecos player as a step as he clears the ball downfield. Strathconas won that match 3-1.

MATCH HERE SATURDAY

Pils Need Program To Know Straths

Victoria Strathconas meet Vancouver Pilseners at Athletic Park Saturday afternoon in a Coast Soccer League fixture, and Strathconas, for one, aren't going to stand pat with a winner.

Straths, who have had players coming and going in a steady stream for their last three league games, finally found a winning combination in their last outing, defeating Halecos 3-1.

But manager Charlie Lewis and unofficial coach Willie Hamilton will be juggling line-ups again tonight in a practice session at Athletic Park, and Lewis has hinted that some changes will be made for Saturday's contest.

NEWCOMER MAY PLAY

These could include the insertion into the line-up of ex-Scottish junior Art Brack, highly regarded but without equipment until recently.

At any rate, Pilseners will be facing a vastly different squad that lost, 4-3, to them in an exhibition game here last October.

SEVERAL CHANGES

The Victoria side has been bolstered by the likes of Joe Robbins, Willie Hamilton, Tom Druce, Ernie Eastlake and John Weldon since then, with the promise of more to come.

It will be the third home game of the season for the locals, and about 800 fans are needed to help the club live in solvent surroundings. Straths have yet to play an away game in the CSL schedule.

City Rifle Team Takes Dominion Honor

The Dominion Shield, top prize for rifle shooting among RCEME units in Canada, has been won by Victoria's 40 Technical Squad for the fourth straight year.

What? Game Called On Account of Ice!

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Toledo - Indianapolis International Hockey League game scheduled for Wednesday night was postponed because of ice—in the wrong place.

The rink at the Coliseum was in fine condition, but the Toledo team couldn't get here. There was too much ice on the roads in northeastern Indiana.

In the second division Sunday, first place will be at stake when Canadian Scottish and Brodie's Bakery meet at Lower Beacon Hill. Both are tied for second place, one point behind the idle Tillicums. In the final game, Butler Brothers will travel to Duncan to meet the Duncan Native Sons.

All games start at 2.

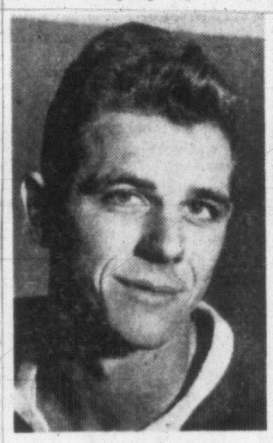
AMERKS BARK UP WRONG TREE

Brown Stays--Until Cash Can Get Goals

Until such time as a dollar bill can skate in and score goals with a booming slap-shot, Wayne Brown will remain the property of the Victoria Cougars.



WAYNE BROWN
. . . his shot stays

This was the intimated response by Victoria Cougar manager Fred Hutchinson to a report that the Seattle Americans are attempting to lure Brown back into a Seattle sweater.

Brown came to the Cougars at the start of last season when the Seattle team was inactive. The previous season, with Seattle Ironmen, Brown scored 49 goals while operating on a line with Guyle Fielder. In that season, Fielder won the league's scoring championship and Brown was second.

The Seattle report states that American coach and general-manager Billy Reay is so anxious to reunite Brown and Fielder that he has made an extremely substantial offer to the Victoria club for the right-winger.

However, Hutchinson stated that he had received no concrete offer from Reay or the Americans and, even if such an offer did materialize, "We can't play money on left wing."

Brown was sidelined for the largest part of last season by a broken leg but, in recent games, has been finding the scoring punch that made him one of the most dangerous wingers in the league.

Reay, complete with offers and covetous eyes, will be in Victoria Friday night when he brings the Americans to Memorial Arena for resumption of their bare-knuckle feud with the Cougars. Game-time is 8.30.

COMEBACK?

Olson Leads On Points

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Carl (Bobo) Olson, who last week lost his middleweight championship in two rounds in the ring, today appeared to be winning a $500,000 court fight in the first round.

Federal Judge Louis E. Goodman indicated strongly today that he does not believe Olson breached his contract with Hawaiian dairyman Herbert Campos as alleged in a suit brought against Olson and his manager, Sid Flaherty.

The judge gave each side 20 days to file supplemental briefs after they wound up testimony today, but said:

"My own view of the matter at this moment is there was no breach of contract and Olson could fight (for anyone) until Campos made specific demands on him."

Fashoway Sets New Goal Mark

Regina 5, Calgary 4
Westminster 3, Winnipeg 1

The lowly Regina Regals have gained a measure of prestige in the Western Hockey League.

The Saskatchewan team, currently bringing up the tail-end of the Prairie division, scored a 5-4 overtime victory over Calgary Wednesday night to snap the top-place Stampeders' winning streak at five games.

Meanwhile, New Westminster Royals handed Winnipeg Warriors their third straight defeat by posting a 3-1 win in New Westminster.

The victory moved the Royals back into second spot in the Coast division standings over the idle Victoria Cougars.

The smallest crowd—2,587—ever to attend a hockey game at Calgary; saw Aggie Kukulowicz rifle in the overtime goal that gave Regina the victory.

HAD TWO

Kukulowicz, who also picked up a goal earlier, shared scoring honors with Elliott Chorley. George Senick was the other Regina marksman.

Calgary scorers were Sid Finney, with a pair, Ray Barry and Steve Witiuk.

NEW MARK

At New Westminster, Gord Fashoway, who scored Royals first goal, broke a WHL record he held jointly with two other players. He now has scored in nine consecutive games.

Other New Westminster marksmen were Blinky Boyce, who also assisted on the two other goals, and Ron Matthews. Gary Aldcorn picked up Warriors' counter.

Tonight Edmonton Flyers play the Quakers at Saskatoon.

Baseball Player Reps Rebuff Club Owners

NEW YORK (UP) — The 16 major league player representatives have decided unanimously today that "we cannot continue to go along with the rejection by the club owners of what we consider to be reasonable requests."

The representatives, meeting with their attorney, J. Norman Lewis, said they would present their cause to baseball commissioner Ford Frick at a meeting in Frick's office.

The two league representatives, Robin Roberts of the Phillies, and Bob Feller of the Indians, will meet with Frick along with their attorney.

The players were particularly incensed over refusal of their bosses to permit them a voice in the negotiation of a new world series radio and television contract.

"It has been established in previous negotiations that 60 per cent of the proceeds from the radio and television belong to the players' pension fund," Feller said. "It seems reasonable, then, that we should have some voice in the establishment and administration of this new contract."

The players did not indicate what their next step would be if the owners continued to reject them.

THE BEST IN BASEBALL, MAYBE ALL BASEBALL

Yogi, Campy Rate With Oscar

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—For the third time both Yogi Berra and Roy Campanella stand enshrined today as the most valuable players of their craft and on sober reflection you can't find too much fault with their selection.

The honors in the National League, you may feel, could have gone to such as Duke Snider, Don Newcombe or Robin Roberts. If you're an American Leaguer you may feel that Ted Williams, Al Kaline or Al Smith should have taken the laurels.

But when you compare chunky Yogi or roly-poly Roy with the immortal Bill Dickey you see just how valuable they are to their respective teams.

Don't think this is a "home town" decision. My personal choices would be Williams and Roberts. I can't conceive of anybody being more valuable to their teams than tall Ted is to the Bosox or the dazzling Robin is to the Phillies.

But much of this voting, and probably rightfully so, is predicated on leading your team to victory. Certainly, Yogi and Roy did just that—if you can select between Campanella and Snider of the Dodgers.

Yet the catcher's chore unquestionably is a dog's life. Remember that the players themselves call their equipment "the tools of ignorance." They lead the most strenuous life in baseball, directing the action, handling various pitchers, suffering from battered fingers and crushing contact at the plate as well as doing deep knee exercises that would quickly wear out ordinary mortals.

Still you can't evaluate the value of such as Yogi and Roy—who also are offensive stars — until you compare them with the mighty Dickey.

No one will question the fact that, with Mickey Cochrane, Dickey is regarded as one of the finest backstops in baseball annals. Yet both Berra and Campy are en route to putting big Bill in the shade.

Dickey only once caught as many as 140 games in a season. His next most durable season saw him behind the bat in 132 games. For the 13 years which were regarded as his best, he averaged but 109 games per season. Campanella's average for eight years past has been 129 games a season, twice catching 151 games. Yogi's is even more startling, an average of 145 games for six years past, and he also twice caught 151.

Dickey's batting average is more impressive but he wasn't being worn to the bone behind the mask. When he hit his tops at .362 he received only 112 games. His next best, a .339 mark, came in 109 games.

Yogi batted .322 when he caught 151 games and .307 over the same distance. Campanella hit .325 in 143 games and .312 in 144. This year, Camp's mark was .318 in 123 games while Yogi batted .272 in 147 games.

Compared with Dickey, one of the immortals, you've got to rate them mighty high. Which means that, compared to the current crop, their selection isn't a disgrace.

Argos at It Again -- Cast Eyes on Glick

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Gary Glick, star halfback at Colorado A and M, has been offered $12,000 to play professional football next season with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four.

Glick's wife, Colleen, confirmed the offer Wednesday and said she and her husband will fly to Toronto today "to look the situation over."

Glick was tied up with examinations and could not be reached for comment. He was selected by Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League two weeks ago as their bonus choice for the 1956 season.

The 25-year-old back has shone on both offence and defence and was an outstanding choice for the all-Skyline Conference team this season. He will play in the Blue-Grey game at Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 31 and the Hula Bowl game at Honolulu Jan. 18.

Mrs. Glick said she and her husband will leave this afternoon and fly to Toronto by way of Chicago.

The Denver Post reported that Harry Sonshine, Toronto general manager, said by telephone that Glick "would fit in very well with our 1956 plans and would give our regular quarterback, Tom Dublinski, wonderful support."

"I talked with Gary some time ago and asked him please not to do anything until we could discuss a possible contract with him," Sonshine said.

BATTLE OF TRAILERS TONIGHT'S HOOP MENU

In the opener of tonight's card, at 7, Brentwood and Eaglette midget girls tangle with Meteors and Eaglettes of the junior league clashing at 8. The feature game is billed for 9.

Hartwig and Hopman Didn't See Eye to Eye

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Rex Hartwig turned professional because he "didn't get a chance to play singles" on the Australian Davis Cup team, Jack Kramer said Wednesday.

Kramer, promoter of the professional tour, quoted Hartwig as saying:

"My overall singles record against Ken Rosewall showed me the better singles player. But if I had beat Ken nine out of 10 times, Harry Hopman (team captain) still wouldn't let me play in the singles."

Kramer, here as advance man for the pro tour which shows in San Francisco on Monday and in Oakland on Tuesday, said that Hartwig is one of the great doubles players in the world.

"He was scared stiff in the New York inaugural," said Kramer. "He broke the only three racquets he brought from Australia with him in practice sessions. When opening night came along, he was frightened. But he was relaxed by the second night he played with Tony Trabert against Pancho Segura and Pancho Gonzales in Cincinnati. As a result the two youngsters won."

Kramer predicts that the Australian lad and Trabert will go on to win the doubles series from Segura and Gonzales.

Gilmour played junior hockey in Vancouver and continued his career in Nanaimo until a leg injury forced him to retire. He joined Penticton Vs briefly but the injury, caused in a logging accident, forced him to give up playing.

COACH FORECASTS GOLD MEDAL

Canada's Ski Team Preps for Olympics

ST. JOVITE, Que. (CP)—Canada's Olympic ski team has launched into serious training on Laurentian slopes in this winter resort north of Montreal.

The first official workout Tuesday was heartening for coach Ernie McCulloch. Three members of the team who spent the summer hobbling on broken legs reported the injured limbs had not bothered them during the initial workouts.

Watching his charges skim by on the snow-packed slopes of Mont Tremblant, McCulloch said:

"One of our girls will bring home a gold medal," he said. "They are just as good as the Europeans and there is no reason why they shouldn't finish on top in one of the events."

The team includes Anne Heggtveit, a slalom specialist from Ottawa, who suffered a broken leg last winter; Lucille Wheeler, Canadian women's combined champion; and Carolyn Kruger, both of Montreal and Gigi Seguin of Quebec.

The team will leave here Dec. 27 by air for Cortina, Italy, where the Olympic ski events will be held between Jan. 27 and Feb. 3.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy", Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 16-volume set of The Children's Hour to Gwen Ann Youngblood, aged seven, of Tulsa, Okla., for her question:

Why Are Our Tears Salty?

Did you know that your heart must float in a salty bath? This is also true of the lungs, liver and kidneys. In fact, this salty bath is necessary for all the organs and tissues inside the skin.

The body provides this bath of salt for itself. Every inside cell is moist and damp with body fluids. The body uses the food you eat and the liquids you drink to make these special fluids. And they are special. The brews must be just right. Each mixture contains minerals and chemicals—just enough and not too much. And one of the most necessary chemicals is salt—ordinary salt.

Sometimes these body fluids leak outside the skin. Then you can taste the salt in them for yourself. Blood, sweat and tears all have a salty taste. Lost salt must be replaced. On a hot day you perspire a lot. The body must get more salt to make good the loss. Travelers in hot deserts carry salt tablets to make up the salt lost by perspiration. Normally we get our supply of salt as we season our food. A grown man has about one-third of a pound of salt inside his body.

PERPETUAL WORK

Tears, of course, are one of the body's fluids. They are formed in little glands under the upper eyelids. They have special work to do all the time—not just on special occasions. The moist tear fluid provides a soothing bath for the sensitive eyes. Eyes must be kept moist all the time. And there must be salt in their bath water. The tears provide this proper fluid.

The eyelids work like little windshield wipers. They blink and blink, spreading just enough and not too much tear juice over the eyes. The used moisture runs down a tiny, tiny tube into the back of the nose. You can see the opening of this little tube at the nose end of your lower eyelid.

Now blink hard several times. You can feel an extra supply of tear juice flowing into your eyes. The muscles around your eyes have squeezed the tear glands, forcing out more juice. This also happens when you laugh a lot—and also when you cry.

When tears flow they cannot drain away fast enough. Remember the tube that drains off the moisture is very, very small. It carries as much of the extra tear juice as it can down the back of your nose. You sniffle and your nose runs.

The extra tears slop all over the place. They run down your cheeks and off your chin. It's all very embarrassing. It is because the tear drain cannot handle this extra duty. Their real job is to keep the eyes bathed in a soothing flow of salty moisture.

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Stephen Sneyd, aged 14, of Los Angeles, Calif., for his question:

Why does a boomerang come back to the person who throws it?

If you threw a boomerang, it probably would not return to you at all. It might make some graceful loops and hoops in the air and then fall where you least expected it to fall. Boomerang throwing is an art and a skill. It is practiced by the Australian natives who invented the strange weapon.

The trick of the boomerang is in its shape. It may be from two to four feet long. It may be angled or shaped like a sickle. Its edge is knife sharp. One side is flat, the other is gracefully rounded. The curves of a flying boomerang are caused by the action of the air on this rounded side.

Not all boomerangs are made to return to the thrower. Those that do return are used as practice toys. A business-like boomerang is planned to curve around and bring down an animal or an enemy. It falls to the ground where and when its work is done.

These strange toys and weapons are made of hard wood. They are cut in one piece from the fork of a tree. Often they are hardened still further over glowing embers. A native can make his boomerang swing in figure eights and return to him. He can swing it in loops over his head and have it fall at his feet.

Cleanliness Near Fetish In British A-Power Plant

By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEASCALE, England (CP)—Cleanliness is almost a fetish with the men who work in the exciting, science-fiction atmosphere of nuclear laboratories, A-bomb test sites and atomic power plants.

For men in daily contact with the deadly radioactive emanations common to nuclear proving grounds, cleanliness may mean survival itself.

And the dirty hands and clothing of an untidy workman can render impotent the mighty potential of an atomic power plant.

Scientists at Britain's big Calder Hall atomic power station near Seascale in West Cumberland say elaborate precautions are necessary to ensure that not a single speck of dust penetrates the heart of the nuclear reactor, firebox of the plant.

Before workmen begin the final assembly of the reactor core, all working areas near the core are sealed. The areas are vacuumed and cleaned to a degree of spotlessness that would make even a meticulous housewife envious.

SHOWERS REQUIRED

Workmen must strip, shower and put on freshly-laundered clothing before entering the "clean" area. If they step outside the "clean" area, even for a moment, they must again strip, shower and change before re-entering.

Why such rigid cleanliness rules?

The chain reaction of nuclear fission is caused by bombardment of uranium atoms by neutrons. Since dirt contains neutron-absorbing elements such as boron, even a small amount of dirt would lower the reactor's efficiency. A large amount of dirt might absorb so many neutrons that no chain reaction could take place and the reactor would be useless.

So you can see, cleanliness is mighty important to scientists who work in places like Calder Hall or Canada's Chalk River plant.

And it is equally important to our soldiers, sailors and airmen training to fight in the atomic age.

Maj. R. E. (Rod) MacDonald, head of the Canadian Army's radiation detection unit in Kingston, Ont., puts cleanliness at the top of his list of "musts" for unit members.

After every exercise in which the unit comes in contact with radioactive material, the men go through a routine of stripping, showering and getting into fresh clothing similar to that carried out by workmen at Calder Hall.

For radioactive fallout associated with a nuclear explosion is dust made radioactive by the explosion. Says Maj. MacDonald:

"The easiest and most practical method of getting rid of such contamination is to take a bath."

A civil suit instituted by a mother against her son for failing to carry out a verbal agreement to renovate her home in Saanich was settled in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane Tuesday.

George Walton, contractor, agreed to return $1,000 to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Walton, widow, 3605 Harriet Road, which she gave him to pay for repairs and renovations to her small house which she claimed were not carried out.

Cowichan Area Favors Election for Trustees

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

On Saturday ratepayers of the rural portion of School District 65 (Cowichan) will vote for the first time for candidates to trustee positions on the district school board.

It is a long-awaited move by a good many individuals and organizations, and is expected to solve most of the criticism of the sprawling district that reaches from the Malahat to the Chemainus river, and takes in the city of Duncan, municipality of North Cowichan, and the unorganized district areas such as Mill Bay, Shawnigan, Bench, Sylvana, Somenos, Maple Bay, Sahtlam, Cobble Hill and Koksilah.

As school districts go, this one has its share of controversies. It is divided by sectionalism, hampered by conflicts of personalities on the school board, and burdened with the neglect of past years. The result is widespread antagonism on the part of the public regarding school board matters.

FIRST IN B.C.

The Saturday vote is more or less a test run. Nowhere else in the province have rural ratepayers had the chance to cast ballots, and new regulations had to be drafted to conduct it. More than likely, if it proves to be a success, it may become regular practice throughout the province.

At present cities and municipalities elect trustees, but the rural residents elect representatives from each "school attendance area." These representatives then elect from among their number as many trustees as the area is allotted. In the case of Cowichan, the rural area has four trustees, and two of the seats will be contested Saturday.

The flaw in this system is that the representatives may not be truly "representative," yet even if they are, malcontents can still dispute the fact.

A Duncan civic official who has had disagreements with the school board held that if trustees are elected, "then we must be satisfied with what we get At present we are likely to get persons put up by small but well-organized cliques."

MONEY CONSERVED

So, if that is the cure, then what is the illness?

It started years ago, when the criterion of a good school board was its ability not to spend money, and a good year was one during which the board spent less than in the previous year. During this period the school system became somewhat run down, and the no-building agreement during the war threw a heavy onus on some postwar school board to make good the deficiencies of quite a few years.

Synonymous with the problem of a physical plant in need of expansion is the division on the board between urban and rural viewpoints.

Rural dwellers always have objected bitterly to the school tax on land, therefore cleavage on the board is not difficult to understand.

SCHOOL CROWDED

Further, in later years the situation was aggravated by a paid official who was blamed, rightly or wrongly, with staff troubles and with helping to keep board disputes bubbling. That official since has left, and improvements have been noted.

A more specific complaint at present, forced by population growth and crowded conditions in Duncan, is the sending of 110 city children daily by bus to the Fairbridge school. This forced other children in the Koksilah Fairbridge area to be sent to Cobble Hill. It was a chain reaction, and has been stopped by substituting school bus miles for needed rooms.

Much more accommodation will be made available through the implementing of a $660,000 school construction by-law passed Nov. 9.

Some feel it was fortunate to pass, since it contained provision for a junior high school near Cobble Hill. A south end high school in the list of new work is blamed for the defeat last April of a similar by-law.

BACKED BY MAYOR

"Passage of the November by-law was a desperation move," said Mayor J. C. Wragg of Duncan. "People felt time was going by, and that if the district was to keep pace with the industrial development we expect at Crofton, then they'd have to vote for the by-law, high school or not. They supported it because Reeve C. A. P. Murison of North Cowichan and I recommended it."

Another point of annoyance in the district is the contentious high school on the outskirts of Duncan. Opened five years ago, it has been plagued with dry rot in the foundation and other minor deficiencies, such as lack of fuel storage space and handling facilities.

Architects, contractors, government officials and the school board must share any blame attached to this project, but, like the ancient mariner's albatross, it has hung most heavily on the neck of the board.

The board's public relations have been poor, and some unfortunate situations arose that could have been avoided with a little less secretiveness — or awareness of a responsibility to the public.

If all these adverse conditions are not bad enough, they are made the more glaring by the example of Lake Cowichan School District 66 right next door, where three large industries and a benevolent school board do their best for both pupils and teachers in an effort to keep good teachers on the job.

So there is School District 65, target for criticism both just and unjust, with the trustees in the centre ring and the board chairman, snowy-haired, ruddy-cheeked George E. Bonner of Cobble Hill, right in the bullseye.

Mr. Bonner is probably the most controversial figure on the school board. His worst enemies aclaim his loyalties and enthusiasm, but claim they are misdirected. They claim he cannot see that the southern end of the district, in which he lives, is "dead."

A good many persons long have protested Mr. Bonner's objective of a high school in the southern area, and take authorization of a junior high in the area in the recent by-law as a personal affront. He is accused of being a niggler and blocker of progress.

Mr. Bonner also is accused of finding any number of reasons why certain things cannot be done without finding the one way of doing them.

"Many things 'hanging fire' in the school system need only the decision of the school board to start them," a local official said.

Asked for his views on school matters, Mr. Bonner was most emphatic in his own defence.

WAIT DEVELOPMENT

"If a junior high school was not needed in the lower end of the district, the education department would not have sanctioned it in our by-law," he said. "We have the pupils to fill it."

"If we are criticized for lack of development in the north end because of Crofton pulp mill plans, I can only say—what is the development? We just can't go ahead and build schools in the hope that they will be filled some day. But we have plans for growth in Duncan and Crofton that can be implemented when the need arises.

In reference to economies of earlier boards, and the opinion that eventually some school board had to spend some money and do some work, Mr. Bonner said "the present board was the one that did it."

"Blame previous boards for the fact that we have had to spend money. In the past year our board has conducted the largest maintenance program in the history of the district. Before I took office plumbing was not common in the schools. Now every school has it. Our building committee represents all parts of the district and has done an excellent job. Every effort has been made to make accommodation clean and wholesome.

FOUGHT AGAINST SITE

"As to the high school—if you consult the record you will find Trustee George E. Bonner fought to the end against the Cowishan High School being bult at its present site. I wanted it on high ground anywhere in the district except where it is."

This is what a highly-placed official had to say about the district, and readers can be assured he is in the position to know of what he speaks:

"Cowichan has good schools and good teachers. The physical plant is in excellent shape and administration is good. Costs of operation are well in line with those of other districts. The only lack is harmony on the school board, and there are excellent people there that need only to work more closely together."

DEATH CAUSE UNKNOWN, JURY REPORTS

DUNCAN (CP)—A verdict of "death from unknown causes" was returned Wednesday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Hugh Simpson, 75, who disappeared from his home here in November, 1954.

The man's body was found Sunday in the Deerholme district, about four miles west of here. Identity was established through a small change purse and a pair of shoes.

Brotherhood Asks Ottawa Hearing On Indian Affairs

NANAIMO (CP)—The Native Brotherhood of British Columbia has demanded a hearing at the conference of Indian affairs now being held at Ottawa.

"Since the status of the Indian is to be changed, we request the right to be heard on the same basis as the other delegates attending now," the brotherhood said in a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

"If this is denied us, we respectfully request the right to be heard by Parliament."

The telegram was signed by Robert P. Clifton, president of the brotherhood, and Rev. Dr. Peter R. Kelly, chairman of the group's legislative committee.

The brotherhood's executive met in this Vancouver Island city Tuesday and charged it had been ignored by Citizenship Minister Pickersgill.

In Ottawa a citizenship department spokesman said delegates to the three-day talks, which ended Wednesday, were chosen by the Indians themselves. They chose their representatives by bands and regions and no organization as such was represented.

Water Main Doubles Supply for Nanaimo

NANAIMO—The valve on Nanaimo's new main waterline is scheduled to be opened at 4 p.m. Dec. 20, to increase the city's daily water supply to 5,000,000 gallons as against the 2.2 millions per day supplied by the old system.

Those officiating at the opening ceremony will be Mayor George Muir and Mayor-elect Earle C. Westwood, E. L. Hodson, president of the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce, and members of the water board.

Water board chairman Jack Barsby will open the main valve. The general public is invited to attend the ceremony.

Chief Commissioner C. F. Newcombe has announced that the 13-mile pipe line, which is all steel and varies in diameter from 36 to 18 inches, was completed six months ahead of schedule. G. W. Ledingham Co., Ltd., of Vancouver was the contractor.

The new pipline runs from the south fork of Nanaimo river to No. 1 reservoir, a distance of 13 miles, and has cost $1.3 million.

Plans are laid to extend the water line another three miles over rough terrain to the South Forks dam. Completion of these plans will make available 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 gallons daily through the Greater Nanaimo Water District system.

Contract for the three-mile extension will not be let until spring.

Strike Fails To Reduce Lumber Total

CHEMAINUS — Despite a strike which put a halt to lumber loading for a few days and the fact that fewer ships called at local ports, more lumber was loaded at Chemainus and Crofton in November than in the previous month.

A total of 13,909,563 feet of lumber was loaded aboard 16 ships; 1,500,000 feet more than the previous month.

Bulk of the lumber shipments went to Australia and the United Kingdom. A total of 3,658,000 feet was loaded for Australia and 3,563,000 feet for the United Kingdom. Other shipments in November were: Belgium, 290,000; Fiji, 175,000; Puerto Rico, 2,456,000; South Africa, 1,890,000; United States, 1,877,000.

Other exports in November included 3-903 units of pulp chips to United States markets and 650 tons of copper ore.

Early Winter Hits Loggers; 1,150 Jobless

DUNCAN—Due to the winter's early start in November, about 1,150 workers in the Cowichan area have been jobless for the last five weeks and purse strings may be pulled tighter this Christmas.

The usual seasonal lay-off at all camps begins about two weeks before Christmas.

The majority of the unemployed woods workers come from Kapoor and Copper Canyon camps, and it is understood that Kapoor will be shut down until next spring.

It is not known how many of the jobless are ineligible for unemployment insurance benefits, but the local UIC office does not believe the number to be greater than in other years at this time of the year.

B.C. History Group Names New Officers

NANAIMO — William Barraclough was re-elected president of the Nanaimo Branch, B.C. Historical Association, this week.

Jack Parker is new vice-president, Robin Walley treasurer, and Mrs. William McGirr, secretary.

Mr. Barraclough read a paper to prove that the island Indians once used the hair of indigenous "woolly dogs" in weaving cloth.

The mainland Indians traded mountain goat hair bale for bale for the native dog hair as a mixture in cloth making.

George Molecey told the meeting of the final sealing in concrete of the time capsule on Pioneer Rock, and listed contents of the lead casket.

Pioneer society and Native Sons, joint owners of the rock upon which passengers from barque Princess Royal landed, plan to erect a cairn over the time capsule.

RAB BUTLER RIGHT-HAND FOR EDEN?

Cabinet Shuffle Set, Says Paper

LONDON (AP) — The Conservative newspaper Daily Telegraph predicts that the Chancellor of the Exchequer, R. A. Butler, will be named deputy prime minister next week, to be succeeded at the treasury by Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan.

The newspaper, which has excellent information sources in Prime Minister Eden's government, says Defence Minister Selwyn Lloyd, a former minister of state for foreign affairs and veteran United Nations diplomat, will succeed Macmillan at the foreign office.

As deputy premier, the paper says, Butler also would act as government leader in the House of Commons and be charged with keeping an eye on economic policy.

Butler, 53, directed the campaign strategy for the general election last May which returned the Conservatives to power with a majority of 59 in the Commons.

PREDICTS OTHER CHANGES

The Telegraph forecasts these other top-level changes:

1. Alan Lennox-Boyd, now colonial secretary, will be named defence minister.

2. War Minister Anthony Head may succeed Lennox-Boyd in the colonial office.

3. Sir Walter Monckton will step out as minister of labor "and is likely to receive a high legal appointment in the near future."

4. Iain Macleod, minister of health, may take over Monckton's labor post.

The Telegraph says Harry Crookshank, the present Conservative house leader, probably will be made a peer when Butler takes over the post of deputy prime minister.

Fan Riots Cause Wrestling Ban

FLORENCE, Ala. (UP)—Local sports fans were told today their own over-enthusiasm which has caused some near-riots, forced the athletic commission to ban wrestling.

The commission, pointing to recent chair-throwing and other types of altercations that police were almost helpless to subdue, outlawed the bouts in a vote Wednesday.

Its action followed a similar ban by the commission of nearby Sheffield, Ala., which ruled wrestling illegal after a riot that injured several persons and resulted in a number of arrests.

The Sheffield commission repealed its ban last week, however, and the Florence commission said it might reconsider its order later.

Ti-Cats Again Under Community Ownership

HAMILTON, Ont. (BUP)—The Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League were back in community ownership today less than two weeks after the club was purchased by a local businessman.

Charles C. Lawson of Hamilton surrendered the ownership Wednesday afternoon at meeting of the club's directors. He made his bid for the club Dec. 2 but said he wanted to relinquish the franchise because Cafl Voyles, coach and general manager for the past six years, announced last Friday he was retiring from football.

The club executive voted unanimously in favor of retaining the franchise as a community-owned project.

Gardner Victory

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—British heavyweight Jack Gardner won an unpopular decision over Kitone Lave, a Tonga islander, in a fast 10-round boxing bout Tuesday night.

Gardner weighed 220¼ pounds to 197¼ pounds for his opponent.

Vancouver's Grain Exports Will Run at Top Capacity

VANCOUVER (CP)—F. D. Patterson, manager of the British Columbia division of the Alberta Wheat Pool, said here grain exports out of Vancouver will run at about top capacity until April.

Mr. Patterson announced that 3,000,000 bushels of wheat and barley have already been shipped this month and 8,000,000 bushels more are to follow.

"Our top normal capacity is between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 bushels a month and it looks as though we'll operate at that capacity until April.

"The opening of the Lakehead at Fort William may change things then."

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prices closed irregularly in light trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange. Flax and rye showed the best tone.

Oats and barley held to a narrow range, with most of the commercial demand of a domestic nature. American selling appeared in oats, while hedges came out in barley.

Export purchases in flax prompted reports of a small sale overseas. Rye trade was dull. Offerings in all grains were light.

Overnight export wheat loadings included: Japan 490,000 bushels, United Kingdom 445,000 and Belgium 150,000.

Lakehead prices for Nos. 1 and 2 northern were down 1 cent and Nos. 3 and 4 down 2 cents. Remaining wheat prices were unchanged.

MARKET SUMMARIES

NORANDA GAINS 50c

TORONTO (CP)—There were more losses than gains in the industrial component of the stock market during mid-afternoon trading today, but a handful of leading issues moved up to improve the group's index about a point.

Mines were dull, but western oils made some headway after a weak opening.

Most senior mines weakened, but Geco and Noranda gained 50 cents.

Golds moved sluggishly. Uraniums were mosty qiuet.

Several higher-priced western oils posted fractional advance, led by Merril Pete, up 75 cents.

NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—Aircrafts and a few key issues were higher today in a generally lower stock market.

Aircrafts were buoyed by continued news of buying by government and private interests.

Lower Canadian stock included McIntyre and International Nickel, both down ¼, Dome Mines, off ⅛. Distillers Seagram gained ¼ and Canadian Pacific was unchanged.

LONDON

LONDON (Reuters) — The stock market today was depressed as a result of Wednesday's fall on Wall street and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler's statement that Britain will feel the effects of a squeeze on credit.

Gilts declined after opening harder. Canadian Pacific was lower along with other North American issues.

Falls predominated in industrials although business was small. The steels and engineers were irregular while electrical equipments were dull. Hudson's Bay and Inilever were lower.

VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER—A quiet market this forenoon. National Explorations sold 5,300, making a gain of 15c, going to 85. Bethlehem Copper sold 1,000 at 90.

American Standard traded 33,000 at 20, a gain of 2 cents. Beaver Lodge traded 7,500 between 55 and 60. Sheep Creek sold 3,000 at $1.40. Canadian Collieries moved 2,100 at $13⅝.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP)—Trading was light on the stock market today, and prices showed little tendency to move in either direction. Several issues traded unchanged.

Mines and papers provided most of the activity on the industrial list, fluctuating in a fractional range. Asbestos added three-quarters and Consolidated Paper was a half better, while Canada Cement moved off a half.

$18,000,000 Purchase Involves Sale of Cancol Oil and Gas

VANCOUVER (CP).—An $18,000,000 purchase involving sale of Cancoll Oil & Gas Co. to Merrill Petroleums Ltd., of Calgary, was announced here today.

Cancoll is an oil and gas subsidiary of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., of Vancouver.

Announcement of the sale was made jointly by Norman R. Whittall, president, Canadian Collieries, and Cliff R. Walter, president Merrill Petroleums.

The sale covers oil holdings in the Pembina fields of Alberta and thousands of acres in the Athabaska tar sands area.

It calls for immediate payments of $5,000,000 cash, $2,250,000 a year from 1957 through 1960, $4,000,000 out of production and an overriding royalty from non-proven oil and gas acreage.

Merrill spokesmen said acquisition of Cancoll would increase the company's reserves and daily production by about 60 per cent and give it a stronger position in the Pembina area, one of Canada's major oil fields.

Canadian Collieries, originally a major coal producer, has increased its timber interests recently and the sale leaves the company with very small oil interests outside the Pembina field not covered by the sale.

B.C. Forest Sell Shares To Scott

VANCOUVER — Stockholders of British Columbia Forest Products Ltd. at a special meeting Wednesday approved the sale of 1,000,000 shares of their company to the Scott Paper Company of Pennsylvania.

First block of 40,000 shares will be sold immediately and the remainder will be taken up by Scott Paper as the money is required over a period of 28 months.

The $15,000,000 received for the shares will be used towards construction of the new B.C. Forest Products pulp mill at Crofton, on Vancouver Island.

E. P. Taylor, chairman of B.C. Forest Products, said the increase in capitalization was not expected to alter the near-term dividend paying ability of the company. In fact, it could be expected to improve greatly the long-term dividend prospects.

He said the company did not want to finance the mill with loan capital alone and the deal with Scott would provide the company with an assured market for its pulp.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

My friend Peter is continuing his battle with the organized forces of commercial enterprise.

I hope you remember my friend Peter. He was the one who bought a tri-lite lamp, complete, and became annoyed because the lamp wouldn't light, as it did not have a bulb.

Well, Peter lost that particular skirmish in his battle, but he certainly hasn't given up.

Peter decided this week he had a golden opportunity to take the organized forces of commercial enterprise for a well-deserved ride.

A well-known supermarket, Peter discovered, was opening a new store in Victoria. And in the process of opening, it was distributing largesse in the form of hampers packed to the brim with various grocery items.

"This is for me," Peter cried, triumphantly. "For once I am going to get something for nothing from the organized forces of commercialism."

Crafty field general that he is, he deployed his forces carefully. This was one skirmish he was determined to win.

"Instead of just ONE shot at winning a grocery hamper," Peter told his wife, "we will have four."

"The way we will do this," he explained, "is to divide the shopping list amongst the four of us."

"The four of us?" asked his wife.

"Indeed, the four of us. I mean me, you—or should I say you, me—and the two children."

"But they are so tiny," protested his wife.

"Tiny, schminey," said Peter. "If there are four of us shopping we have four chances to win a hamper, instead of one."

So thus it happened that Peter, Mrs. Peter, and the two tiny Peters entered the supermarket—separately and furtively.

Each was under an oath of secrecy not to speak to the other. Each was instructed to leave the store via separate check-out lines, the better to improve the chances of winning a hamper.

Inside the store, all went well as Peter and his gallant band attacked the well-stocked shelves, carefully refraining from speaking to each other when their paths crossed.

Finally, each member of the team was in a separate line-up. Peter himself was within four customers of the ultimate goal—the cashier—when he realized he had forgotten an important item of logistics. In a word, he had no money.

Thus he was compelled to break radio silence and send a message to his wife, to wit: "Pssst, slip me a fin, dear."

Peter felt this wasn't too serious a break of security until he glanced at the line of outgoing customers on his other side.

There was his second youngest, a box of mandarin oranges on each shoulder, a bag of mixed candies clutched in his teeth, and tears in his eyes.

(Mandarin oranges and mixed candies were not on the shopping list, but never mind.)

Before Peter could go to the aid of his second youngest, his ear was caught by a wail from the other direction.

"Daddy," cried his youngest, pointing an unmistable finger in his direction, "daddy, I hafta . . ."

We will draw a merciful veil over the accusing looks in the eyes of the other customers who mentally condemned this parental delinquent.

Well, Mrs. Peter finished the shopping while Peter retired to previously prepared positions, there to plan his next frontal assault on the organized forces of commercial enterprise.

(Oh, I forgot to mention, Mrs. Peter didn't win a hamper.)

RCMP'S NEWEST SHIP LAUNCHED HERE TODAY

Even before she hit the water at noon today, RCMPS Victoria showed evidence of speed and manoeuvrability in trim lines. All-steel patrol vessel will join RCMP fleet next year. (Times photo.)

Patrol Ship Launched Here For Mounties

Latest addition to the fleet of Royal Canadian Mounted Police ships operating on the B.C. coast was launched at noon today from No. 1 ways at Yarrows Ltd.

The 92-foot craft, largest on this coast, was christened by Mrs. Robert Bonner, wife of the attorney-general.

The speedy, trim-lined ship was named "RCMPS Victoria," in honor of the capital city, where she will be based.

"Victoria" is designed to serve in the stormy waters of Vancouver Island's west coast and the Queen Charlotte area. She was designed and constructed by Yarrows along lines largely based on the wood constructed inner patrol vessels now being built in the east for the RCN.

But she differs in many ways from her prototypes. "Victoria" is of welded and riveted steel construction, with wheel house and superstructure of aluminum alloy.

LONG PATROLS

Accommodation has been arranged to provide comfortable living for the officers and men who will be aboard her on long patrols along the winding B.C. coast line.

The ship is powered by twin propellers, and twin rudders will add to her manoeuverability at all speeds. Service speed is rated at 16 knots, and the ship will no doubt do much better on full power.

Honor guests at the launching ceremonies included Asst. Supt. C. E. Rivett-Carnac, Supt. J. R. W. Bordeleau, Inspector C. H. Henry, Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, Hon. Robert Bonner, H. L. McLean, Major-General G. R. Pearkes and Inspector J. A. Reader.

CHRISTMAS COOKING

With Karen

Here is a variation of Brown Betty that might come in handy during Christmas. It is an old Danish recipe, and it is not to be baked in the oven like most "Betties."

But a warning! If you are counting calories, it is not a dessert for you.

2 cups applesauce.
1 cup bread crumbs.
½ cup chopped almonds.
⅓ cup butter.
⅓ cup sugar.
2 tbsp. strawberry jam.
Whipped cream.

The applesauce should be rather stiff and not too sweet. Some apples do not need any sugar at all in this dessert.

Put the bread crumbs into a frying pan together with the almonds, butter and sugar. Brown them slowly to a deep golden brown. Their crispness is the secret of success.

You might add some more sugar during the crisping, if you have a sweet tooth, but, by all means, stir constantly and remember that nothing really good was ever made in a hurry.

Arrange the apple stew on a flat dessert dish or in a bowl. Spread the strawberry jam on the top. Then add the bread crumbs and finally the icy cold whipped cream.

Airport Cab Service Promised by 'Copters

PWA to Link Pat Bay, Sea Island To Downtown Victoria, Vancouver

Pacific Western Air Lines is planning to use helicopters to link Patricia Bay and Sea Island airports with downtown Victoria and Vancouver as soon as city centre landing sites are obtained.

PWA will inaugurate a Victoria - Nanaimo - Vancouver service next Tuesday. The service will use DC-3's for about eight months and then switch to 285-mile-an-hour Convairs.

Russ Baker, PWA president, said the fast aircraft will enable a half-hour schedule between Victoria and Vancouver "making the trip no more than a taxi ride of a few blocks."

NO TROUBLE

Mr. Baker doesn't see any difficulty in making arrangements for landing spots for the helicopter shuttle service which will feed the main airports.

This service will greatly speed the time now taken getting from the airports to downtown Victoria and Vancouver.

Mr. Baker added he hasn't abandoned hopes for a harbor-to-harbor plane service between Victoria and Vancouver. He already holds a franchise.

"The only thing stopping us is refusal of authority to use Victoria's inner harbor. Some people are living in the canoe age as far as transportation is concerned."

45 MINUTES

Mr. Baker said during the initial stages when 28-seat DC-3's are used there will be a 45-minute service between Victoria and Vancouver.

But he explained: "This elapsed time is a maximum. It allows for possible instrument flights and landings. Actually, the flying time between Victoria and Nanaimo (Cassidy airport) is 13 minutes. From Cassidy to Vancouver is 12 minutes."

SCHEDULE

Here is the schedule, starting next Tuesday:

Depart Patricia Bay: 7.50 a.m., 10.50 a.m., 1.50 p.m., 4.50 p.m., 7.50 p.m., and 10.50 p.m.

All flights arrive at Cassidy 20 minutes later and in Vancouver 45 minutes after Victoria departure.

From Vancouver first flight is at 7 a.m., followed by 10 a.m., 1, 4, 7 and 10 p.m. take-offs.

Fare from Victoria to Nanaimo is $2.25, to Vancouver $4.50.

Mr. Baker pointed out there will be no frills on the service. He said passengers will carry their own baggage and there'll be no reservations.

"It's a bus line arrangement," he stressed.

The line will open a booking office in Victoria next door to the Trans-Canada Air Lines on Government Street.

$11,760 Settlement In Car Death

Damages totaling $11,760, plus $750 costs, was the settlement reached today in a Supreme Court civil suit instituted by Marie Josephine Gawthrop against car-jockey Rudolph Zembrodt and Wilson Motors Ltd., for the death of her husband in a traffic accident.

The civil suit was settled with the consent of both litigating parties before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane. Counsel George Gregory represented Mrs. Gawthrop, while Jack Ruttan acted on behalf of the defendants.

ACQUITTED

The civil suit resulted from the death of Mr. Gawthrop, who was killed when his car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Mr. Zembrodt, a car-jockey for Wilson Motors, at Blackwood and Hillside, January 16 of this year.

Mr. Zembrodt earlier this year was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter arising from the accident, but was found guilty of dangerous driving.

The widow jointly sued the car-jockey and the firm under the Family Maintenance Act for the "wrongful death of her husband". She claimed the accident was due to the negligence of Mr. Zembrodt.

Totem Carvers Join Jobless

Chief Mungo Martin and his son David, famous totem pole carvers who have been making totems for Thunderbird Park for the past four years, was laid off today and joined the ranks of Victoria's unemployed.

A provincial government official said the 76-year-old chief and his son were laid off because the budget for his work has run out. As a result all work at the park has ceased, he said.

He expressed the hope the Martins would be hired again next spring to continue making totem poles and Indian relics. But this would depend on whether the provisicial government sets aside a budget for this type of work, he said.

The chief has been one of Victoria's major tourist attractions since he was hired by the government to make improvements to Thunderbird Park.

Stricken Officer Taken From Ship In Good Condition

Capt. C. W. Crofts, second officer of CGS St. Catharines, is resting comfortably in St. Joseph's Hospital today while the weathership steams seaward to take up her duties on Station Papa, 900 miles out in the Pacific.

Capt. Crofts was stricken with severe abdominal pains Tuesday night when the ship was about 16 hours out of Esquimalt harbor on her way to relieve CGS Stonetown.

On wirelessed advice from the port doctor at Vancouver, the ship turned round and headed for Victoria.

Capt. Crofts was transferred from St. Catharines to a pilot boat off Ogden Point, and thence to hospital.

His condition today is reported as good, and no surgery will be necessary.

Immediately after transferring Capt Crofts to the pilot boat and taking aboard another second officer, John Fletcher, St. Catharines resumed her course for Station Papa, three days' steaming away.

Two-Officer Prowler Cars Sought Here

Shooting in Vancouver Sparks Police Union Bid

Victoria Police Federal Union (TLC) president Constable Lorne Shandley said today the union will press for a two-man prowler car system here.

Constable Shandley said the union has taken the matter up with members of the police commission.

Commissioner William Hamilton told reporters he, personally, is in favor of two men to a prowler car.

The commission as a whole has opposed the suggestion in recent years.

Commenting on the death of Vancouver Police Constable Gordon Sinclair, killed last week while investigating a complaint of prowlers, Constable Shandley said:

"We don't want to see a thing happen here like occurred in Vancouver. That was a tragic thing."

Constable Sinclair was in a one-man car when shot to death.

Victoria police have operated strictly on a one-man prowler car basis here for the past several years, with the exception of a detective and a traffic car.

Two men were allotted to a car several years ago, but the system lasted only a short time.

Freight Rates Order Soon On City Plea

Members of the Board of Transport Commissioners held a two-hour fact-finding conference with the Victoria Chamber of Commerce freight rates committee today.

The commissioners—Mr. Justice Kearney and Commissioner Leonard Knowles, who were accompanied by Mr. M. Burwash, economist—said afterwards they were impressed by submissions made by the chamber committee regarding a final solution of Victoria's freight rates problem.

Mr. Justice Kearney said an order affecting the problem would be issued shortly.

The meeting, held in private, was attended by G. F. (Pat) Dunn, president of Victoria chamber.

"It was a successful meeting and I feel sure we are nearer a solution of our problem."

The chamber's freight rates committee has been pressing since 1949 for restoration of Victoria's freight rate equality with Vancouver on long-haul rail shipments.

Parity was withdrawn in 1949 when the mountain differential rate schedule was cancelled by the Board of Transport Commissioners. Last year the chamber committee's active representation won a lessening of the Vancouver-Victoria gap.

Prior to that, as far back as 1907, shippers paid the same rate whether from Vancouver or Victoria. Since 1949 Victoria shipments have been charged for at a higher rate.

Three Firms Seek City's Legal Work

Three applications received from city legal firms to take over Victoria's city solicitor's and city prosecutor's jobs were studied today by council finance committee.

A recommendation for acceptance of one of the offers will be made to council at a meeting on Tuesday.

The question of contracting out the city's legal business is one of the main items of city business which council hopes to wind up before the end of the year.

Another council meeting may be held after the Tuesday session in order to clear up as much 1955 business as possible.

City Solicitor Arthur Patton is due to retire at the end of December.

Police Checking Suicide Angle

RCMP at Nanaimo are checking the disappearance of a mainland man who drove his car aboard Ss Princess of Nanaimo in Vancouver at 9 p.m. Wednesday, and failed to drive it off in Nanaimo at 11.30 p.m.

He was identified as J. Wheeler, Burnaby.

"We cannot say it was suicide until we have checked other angles," a police official said. "There is a remote chance that he had been partying aboard the ship and left with another group."

Ignition keys were found in the car. Vancouver police are making an investigation in their area.

Salk Value Seen Here

None of 2,000 children immunized last year against polio in Victoria and Esquimalt have contracted the disease, medical health officer Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy said today.

But nine of the 19 cases reported in the area this year occurred in age groups just over or just under the group treated --the grade ones and pre-grade ones.

There has been only one case of polio, a Metchosin youngster admitted to Jubilee Hospital, island treatment centre, in recent weeks.

Total admitted so far this year from all island points is 39 --an increase of about 14 over last year.

In Vancouver where 17,000 youngsters received Salk anti-polio vaccine the results were the same—no cases of polio reported. However, among the 3,000 of the same age group in that area who were not injected, there were two cases reported.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Will you please tell me where the Gulf of Georgia got its name?—Mrs. A. M.

A.—The name was given in 1792 by Capt. George Vancouver, who called that great body of water the "Gulf of Georgia" in honor of George III, who was king of Great Britain and Ireland from 1760 to 1820. The designation "gulf" was changed to "strait" by Capt. Richards, hydrographer, in 1865, but many of the residents of Vancouver Island and contiguous islands and nearby parts of the mainland still refer to "the gulf."

Q.—After whom is the Mackenzie River in northern Canada named?—A.L.T.

A.—Sir Alexander Mackenzie, who in 1789 explored the river to its mouth.

ANGULAR RAMP PROPOSED FOR SIGHTSEERS ON MOUNT TOLMIE

An observation ramp that "leaps out into space in a dramatic way" will be erected as a lookout from the summit of Mount Tolmie if plans prepared by the tourist trade group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce are carried out. Architect Rod Clack submitted a plan of the proposed ramp during discussion on the development of Mount Tolmie as a park when the group met at the Strathcona Hotel Wednesday night. His plan calls for a ramp 60 feet long by 20 feet wide that would give what Mr. Clack called a "helicopter view" of Victoria. He estimated the total cost of $25,000—dividing costs into three segments of development: $10,000 each for the ramp and parking lots, $5,000 for the landscaping. "The ramp I have in mind would be built on aero nutical lines so as to protect sightseers from the winds that sweep over this area," Mr. Clack said. Ex-alderman John Worthington said: "We should capitalize on this beauty spot to the full and I would be in favor of widening the roads in that area and providing maximum parking facilities." The tourist trade group approved tentative plans for Mount Tolmie park development and agreed to confer with a new Victoria-Saanich parks and beaches committee to prepare for an early start on the project.

Gay Frilled Crinolines Puff Out Festive Skirts

By PENNY SAVER

A glimpse of a whirling red crinoline 'neath the graceful full skirt you've chosen for Yuletide parties not only adds a note of interest, but makes the wearer feel very gay and frivolous . . . a real party mood! So you see, the popular underskirts, leftovers from grandmother's day, have come into their own again, and make a pretty frock much prettier. It doesn't matter what color your dress, you'll find a frilly petticoat to puff out the skirt, and peek from under the hem occasionally. I don't mean that you should go around with your slip showing, but, as I said . . . an occasional glimpse adds interest!

In many of the festively-festooned stores you'll find whole avenues of crinolines frothing out into the aisles, perfect for gift ideas or for enhancing your own outfit. Red, black, mauve, pink, blue, green, and almost any color you could name is shown in lace, frills, pleatings or stiff horsehair. Wear a couple. They're priced from $3.95 up to about $15. A red horsehair one styled in three tiers, with nylon for about five inches down from the waist, costs $8.98. A sure-fire way to get a compliment is to look your best, and, with full whirl-away skirts, a very feminine crinoline is best.

Now this is worth looking into. Come take a peek. See the large frosty snowball made of plastic snow? Look on one side, and there's a hole, trimmed with pink icing. What's inside? Take a look, and you'll see a merry Christmas scene, of a snowy hillside and sparkle-laden trees. In another snowball you'll see carollers and in another a petit Christmas morn scene. There are many others, too. The scenes are set up in dimensions to fool the eye. They'd make an interesting gift. Or use it as the centre of your mantel decoration, it will interest your guests and delight the children.

If her forte is making salads, the lady of the house will appreciate your thoughtfulness for the gift item I've found. Packed in a sectioned box are six miniature vinegar bottles, complete with the handle at the top. One jar holds red-colored herb-flavored vinegar, another white garlic-flavored vinegar. And four more go through a range of colors. There is cream-toned dill-flavored vinegar, syrup-colored tarragon, green mint and golden basil to tempt the palate and provide a lot of fun with experimentation. The fitted box costs $2.95.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't Clutter Up Your Life With Needless Activities

Without planning to do so the average woman allows multitudinous petty obligations, contacts and activities to clutter up her life. These attach themselves to her in weak moments and then cling for dear life.

Most women do not realize that this has happened to them and wonder why they have no time for all of those things they have wanted to do for so long. They take the clutter for granted as though there is no such thing as individual choice.

It takes a lot of nerve and a lot of determination to clear your life of time-and-energy-demanding activities which leave you frustrated rather than vibrant. What inspires and interests and enriches the life of one woman may not do the same for another.

This is an individual matter but you only have so much energy. It seems a shame to waste it in activities you have simply been caught up in, willy nilly, without any real intent or choice. Sweep away the clutter of needless activities.

Some women's lives remind me of shells at sea. As you know many little animals cement themselves to sea shells and remain there for life. The shell carries this burden about although the attachments are not a ntaural part of it.

It also is interesting to know that these little organisms can even change the shaps of the shell. So can these activities which were born of habit or inertia rather than interest and choice, change you so that you may look back and wonder what happened to the dreams and plans of your youth.

I have the greatest respect for energy because it is the coin with which we pay our way through life, with which we buy our happiness and success, with which we serve. It is the essence of life. Guard it carefully but spend it and give it gladly where the giving and spending have meaning for you.

Tillicum—A program of carol singing, bingo and refreshments followed a recent meeting of Tillicum PTA. Presentations were made to Mrs. A. McMillan and Miss E. K. Styan, former teachers of the school. A sum of $200 was authorized to be spent on books to replenish the school's library.

Christmas Decorations Festival Draws Crowd to Empress Hotel

Excitement of the Christmas season commenced in the Empress Hotel Wednesday where the third annual Festival of Christmas Decorations was presented, afternoon and evening.

Sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service, the festival presented many imaginative and original ideas for the Yuletide. Classes included mantels, doors, table centres, miniature Christmas trees, novelties and a students' display. Judging was by popular vote.

Students' Displays

A mass of plastic snow, one small bundle of sticks, icing sugar, several loaves of bread, chocolate coloring, and a few sprigs of foliage. Mix well, with artistic taste, and the result: First prize and a rose bowl.

That was the formula so successfully used by two Oak Bay Junior High School students who submitted an entry to the student division of the Festival of Christmas Decorations Wednesday in the Empress Hotel.

Myrne Beere and Lorelee Turgoose put their heads together and came up with the idea that brought laurels to them and to their school. It was a bread village, made almost entirely of iced bread and plastic snow.

BREAD VILLAGE

In a typical snow-covered setting, there was a barn, with a water tower behind it, a church, complete with gold cross on top, a family-sized home, two small cottages and in the centre of the village, a massive Christmas tree, completely trimmed, and with a star on top. It was all made of shaped bread, and tinted icings trimmed the tree, made roof tops and outlined doors and windows. The bundle of sticks? They made the old-fashioned rail fence running along one side of the village. This entry was in the large table division.

Second prize was carried off by Miss Linda Johns of Oak Bay High School, for her novelty class entry. On a double-level base was an archway of silver leaves, backed by blue cellophane. From the archway floated a white angel. At the front of the display were gold and silver Christmas balls encircled with sunburst paper, and silvered pine cones.

NEW CLASS

The students' division is a new class in the festival this year. Junior and senior high schools sent in many entrants, singly and in groups, and individual students also entered displays.

Other entrants included Robin J. Burns, Leslie Ann and Ricky Humber, Virginia Johnsen, Linda McMaster, and Penny White. Esquimalt High School submitted five entries, and Oak Bay Junior High, two group entries, and singles by Helen Simmons, Catherine Foster and Wendy Pite. Victoria High's grad 10 was represented by Jean Davidson, Barbara Shirriff and Marilyn Rudge, while Oak Bay High entered displays from Linda Johns, Bonnie Jamieson, Jean Kennedy, Diane Hamlet, Terry Wiley, Marjorie Barrie, Jean Bartholomew and Norma Dickinson. Other entries were from Lansdowne Junior High and Mount Douglas High.

Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, visited the festival in the evening and graciously presented rose bowls and prizes to winners. She was accompanied by Miss Ruth MacLean: Mrs. Ross was received by the auxiliary president, Mrs. J. A. DeBourcier, and the festival conveners, Miss Lola Maxwell and Mrs. W. A. Atherton.

Birks' rose bowl and first prize in miniature tree class went to Mrs. T. W. McConnell Davis, A13; second, Mrs. E. L. Aubel, A9; Hudson's Bay Company rose bowl and first prize in door displays, Mrs. Ernie Peden, B29; second, Mrs. G. W. Bell, B25.

December comes with a deep regret,
A month we never will forget,
Our dearest wish would be today
To have you back with us to stay.
Deep in our hearts your memory we keep,
We smile with the world but silently weep.
It is nine years this very day
That you from us were taken away.
Each dawning day brings thoughts of you,
Each eventide a prayer,
And in these hearts that loved you,
You always will be there.
—Fondly remembered by his wife and daughter, Anna and Eileen Archer, 2957 Orillia Street, Victoria, B.C.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

THERE is no getting away from the fact that today's hand is rather badly overbid. North might well have passed to one club instead of showing the heart suit. South might well have bid only two no-trump instead of jumping to game. Since both members of the partnership stretched their values, the result was a contract that was theoretically unmakeable.

Opening lead—♠7

As every experienced bridge player knows, there is a gap between theory and practice. South should have been defeated, but he cooked up a clever enough scheme to make his contract.

West opened the seven of spades, East put up the ten, and South won the first trick with the king. There were now only seven tricks in top cards, and South knew that he would need at least a little luck to make his contract.

Hoping for a 3-3 break, South led his three top clubs. Fortunately for him, the suit broke evenly and he was able to lead his last club and win a trick with it.

By this time South was sure of eight tricks, but the ninth trick still looked fairly far away.

After some thought, South decided to return a spade and let West take his tricks. There wasn't much chance for a true squeeze, but there was an excellent chance that West would be afraid to tackle the hearts when he got through with his spade tricks.

Events turned out as South had hoped. West took his four spade tricks but was afraid to lead away from his king of hearts. He therefore led a diamond through East's queen-jack.

This diamond lead gave South the first of two finesses. He could now lead a heart to dummy's ace and take the other diamond finesse, thus making his ninth trick.

It is interesting to note that South could not have taken two diamond finesses for himself since there was only one entry to dummy. It was important to get West's co-operation in order to obtain both diamond finesses.

DICKENS' FAMED 'CHRISTMAS CAROL' ON C-11 AT 8.30

ONE OF THE best Canadian variety shows to be produced this year, we thought, was Tuesday evening's "Motorama." Held in the huge Coliseum on the grounds of Toronto Ex' and starring charming ex-Canadian Gisele MacKenzie and fast-rising actor Lorne Greene, formerly of CBC fame, "Motorama" pleased both the eye and the ear. The stage presentations were fast-moving, swiftly staged and could bear comparison with most shows produced south of the border—something unfortunately, one can't say very often.

Granted, the lighting of the exhibits and the crowds attending the motor show could have been better, but this, fortunately, did not spoil the overall effect. Nor did the fact that officials thought it necessary to bring in ex-Canadian talent to bolster the Canadian members of the cast detract from the excellence of the whole.

Let's have more of these.

* * *

A NOTE TO FIGHT FANS—If you enjoy watching boxing for boxing's sake you could do worse than turn to Channel 2 at 10 p.m. Fridays. These are surprisingly good cards. Staged at the Palais Pier, Toronto, the fighters are mostly of amateur status. But what they lack in ring skill and savvy they make up in zeal and boldness. What is more, the matches are run neatly and an air of good sportsmanship surrounds the scene.

We commend these to you.

12-Week GM Strike Felt Across Canada

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The strike of 17,000 workers at five General Motors of Canada plants in Ontario, now in its 12th week, is making itself felt across the country.

Feeder plants have had to reduce production and in some cases workmen have been laid off.

Many of the 1,200 GM dealers are trying to import cars from the United States and repairmen in most places are scrambling for parts because no replacements are coming in.

OUT SINCE SEPT. 19

GM workers in Oshawa, Toronto, St. Catharines, London and Windsor left their jobs Sept. 19 to enforce demands for a 15-cent hourly wage increase and other benefits.

Most GM feeder plants are located in Ontario and have been able to continue production on a reduced basis because they also supply parts to Ford and Chrysler plants in Windsor, Ont.

At the Carsteel Corporation of Canada plant in Windsor, a six-day strike started after 50 of 100 employees were laid off because of the loss of GM stamped-metal orders.

Two companies in St. Catharines have laid off a total of 330 employees because of lost GM orders and factories in Kitchener and St. Thomas, Ont., are working with reduced staffs.

Dealers in major Canadian centres are importing American-built cars for demonstration, despite the 10-per-cent excise tax, 10-per-cent sales tax and 17½-per-cent duty.

Eastern and central Canada dealers indicated in a Canadian Press survey that they are being hit hard by the prolonged strike. Western dealers said orders for new cars are coming in normally, but delivery is not promised before spring.

DEALERS REPORT

In St. John's, Nfld., one dealer said he is "praying the strike will soon be over and asking customers to be patient."

Saint John, N.B., dealers were more optimistic, reporting at least as many orders as usual for this time of year.

Montreal and Toronto dealers said they are losing business and a London, Ont., dealer said "I'm losing my shirt." Ottawa dealers said business is about normal.

Winnipeg, Regina and Edmonton dealers said orders for new cars are plentiful and Vancouver dealers said orders are running high.

Most dealers are offering delivery in the spring. A GM official said it will be four or five weeks after the strike is settled before the first cars leave the assembly line at Oshawa.

The spare parts situation varies from "threatening" to "critical," dealers said. Many, especially in the western provinces, are importing parts from the U.S. and absorbing the tax and duty cost.

In Brockville, Ont., garages reported hundreds of cars have been taken off the road because a police check showed they need repairs and parts are not available.

Body and trim parts are hardest to get, garages said. Cars in many centres are being returned to their owners without grills or chrome trim.

Kitimat's Giant Alcan Smelter Core of World-Wide Industry

By BRUCE LEVETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP)—A metal found in the black soil of Jamaica and burned to powder in the smelters of British Guiana, pauses in wild northern British Columbia on its journey to world markets.

Here, day and night for a year now, a five-inch-wide stream of molten aluminum has poured into the moulds which spill out 40-pound ingots at the rate of 250 tons a day.

At the end of another year, the stream will be pouring out 500 tons daily.

A. C. Turney, works manager for the Aluminum Company of Canada, is the man who must see that the stream never stops.

"All of our product is exported," he says. "We ship about 50-50 by rail and sea to the western United States, with some going to Britain and Australia."

And his job is getting bigger.

At present, there are two potlines in operation—the long, black furnaces which turn white, powdery alumina into molten aluminum.

Three more are under construction and five more are scheduled to be started next year. Depending on the market for the light, strong metal, an ultimate 18 potlines are visualized along the two - mile smelter site.

COSMOPOLITAN FORCE

The aluminum begins as bauxite in Jamaica. From there, it goes to British Guiana for first refining into the powdered alumina. Deep-sea freighters with holds like grain boats carry it to Kitimat, 400 miles north of Vancouver.

To bank the fires under this cosmopolitan metal, Mr. Turney has a cosmopolitan crew of 1,800 men, a force that is expected to number 2,100 within a year.

"About 50 per cent of the people in the plant have been in Canada less than three years," he says. "That holds generally throughout the area."

They live in temporary houses, trailers, motels, a hotel, apartment buildings and bunkhouses. They even live aboard a retired Sacramento river paddle - wheeler, rammed hard ashore in the shadow of the works.

ALL IN FOUR YEARS

It took four years of one-way traffic to put the Kitimat aluminum smelter into production.

There was nobody here in April, 1951, when 10 woodsmen stepped ashore and began clearing bush and making roads. The nearest people were the Kitimat Indians in their village across the arm.

Now there are 7,500 persons in the district municipality—working in the smelter, constructing the additions and building homes.

There are 1,000 permanent homes in the first section of the townsite. There is a weekly newspaper, a beer parlor seating 600, a railway station, garage, liquid air plant, supermarket, restaurants and taxis.

An estimated 2,000 cars roll over 12 miles of roads.

Ships from the tropics tie up to a deep-sea dock and the alumina is moved from their holds onto a high conveyor spanning the roofs of the six long, metal buildings which comprise the two present pot lines. The alumina is fed by gravity into hoppers.

Below are the rooms with the long, flat furnaces where sweating men in goggles and breathing-masks keep the heat constant and the aluminum flowing.

In these rooms terminate the power lines that began 80 miles to the southeast, in Kemano, power generating station for Kitimat. There, in an underground powerhouse, 150,000-horsepower generators turn out the power needed to make aluminum.

It flows through heavy cables over the perpetual snow of the Kildala pass to Kitimat.

In the potlines it keeps the electrodes fiercely hot.

It takes 20,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy to process one ton of aluminum—enough power to serve the average Canadian home for 12 years.

This initial stage of construction has cost Alcan $225,000,000—half the amount budgetted for the over-all project.

Dionne Girls Reunited In Montreal Hospital

MONTREAL (CP)—Two of the 21-year-old Dionne quintuplets are in a Montreal hospital resting after medical checkups, a hospital official disclosed Wednesday, but he said examinations disclosed nothing seriously wrong with them.

Dr. G. Cousineau, medical director of Notre Dame de l'Esperance Hospital, said quints Marie and Annette Dionne entered the hospital last month largely because their two surviving sisters, Yvonne and Cecile, are student nurses there.

The fifth quint, Emilie, died in August, 1954, at a hostel at Ste. Agathe, some 60 miles north of Montreal. Suffocation during an epileptic seizure was the cause of death.

Dr. Cousineau said there is no evidence Annette and Marie are suffering from any illness resembling Emilie's.

Annette was at Nicolet, Que., studying art in a convent when the town was shaken by a tremendous landslide Nov. 12.

When other students were sent to their homes, Annette came to the Montreal hospital to join her sisters.

The three quints were joined Nov. 26 by Marie who had been training as a postulant at Mount Thabor cloister in Quebec City. Marie was described at the time as in a rundown condition.

Dr. Cousineau said there was "some excitement naturally" among the quints as a result of the landslide which occurred while Annette was at Nicolet.

He said that because they are "wise girls," Marie and Annette decided to have medical examinations and these showed nothing seriously wrong.

River Parley Again Asked By Bennett

Premier Bennett today re-iterated a plea for a "round table" discussion between provincial and federal governments and United States interests on allocation of downstream rights on British Columba's rivers.

The province has been "the only one to call for a conference, and I call ag ain for a conference," he said.

"All we want to do is find the solution. We want to let the sunlight in. What is there to hide?"

The lead should come from the federal government because "that is the government that has caused the difficulty".

Talk about British Columbia giving away its resources to the United States, he termed "not right". We will always hold out for a proper share of power resulting from granting of downstream rights to the United States. "We want to conserve, and get the benefit from the other country, and we want a share of that for the provincial treasury," he said.

He called for the conference "in a spirit of good will".

NATO Approves Radar Warning

PARIS (Reuters)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization council today adopted a plan to co-ordinate fighter defences of western Europe and Britain under the supreme Allied commander, delegates said.

Ministers of the 15 nation alliance, meeting in annual session here, also approved the first step toward a co-ordinated radar warning system for Europe to guard against any surprise attack from the east.

Carol Service Friday Night At First United

Ballad of "Good King Wenceslas," all-time favorite Christmas song, will be sung in a new version at the "Carols in the Candlelight" service, Friday at 8 at First United Church.

The church choir, under direction of Mr. and Mrs. J. Roberto Wood, will sing a setting with descant composed by Douglas Clarke, a well-known Canadian musician. Part of the king is to be sung by Fred Sovren with Beverly Husband responding as the page.

Many beautiful folk carols will be sung including, from the French, "The Christmas Angelus" and a stirring Russian air, "Jubilate."

The ladies' choir which won highest marks in Victoria's 1955 Music Festival, will sing some special arrangements of carols and the male chorus will also have its own part of the program. Choral climax will be the massed voices singing Handel's "Hallelujah" chorus from "Messiah."

Other soloists will be Alice Waddell, Marjorie Norbury, Merna Jenkin, Paul Wharf, Michael Rogers, Alan Husband and William Gaetz.

Accompanist throughout the program will be Malcolm Hamilton.

Tickets may be obtained from choir members, the church office, Western Music Store and Harmony House.

Screen Star's Uncle Up on Drunk Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Gordon Scott Tuesday granted a 24-hour floater to a man convicted of a drunk charge who says he is an uncle of Vancouver-born film star Yvonne de Carlo.

John Purvis de Carlo, 50, was sentenced to three months but the warrant was withheld a day so that he could leave town for a job he said he could get.

He had been convicted twice on the same charge this month.

Actress Pleads Guilty Writing Bad Cheque

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Barbara Payton pleaded guilty Wednesday to writing and cashing a bad cheque for $18.50. Two other counts involving $111 in bad cheques were dismissed. Judge David Coleman set Dec. 27 for probation hearing and sentence.

Charlottetown's Largest Theatre Burns to Ground

CHARLOTTETOWN (BUP)—Fire investigators today raked through the ruins of Prince Edward Island's largest cinema to determine the cause of a $250,000 blaze which gutted the 64-year-old Prince Edward Theatre.

Only the brick shell of the 1,000-seat movie theatre remained after firemen battled for more than four hours yesterday to keep the fire from spreading to nearby buildings. The theatre was empty at the time and there were no injuries.

The blaze was believed to have started in the basement of the building, which also housed the St. John's and Victoria Lodges of the Masonic order, and a news and confectionery store.

NEW DEAL FOR U.K. LABOR

Gaitskell Expected To End Party Split

LONDON (CP)—The Labor movement, representing, roughly half the population of the United Kingdom, has a new leader and a new opportunity to start from scratch in the political wars.

The election of Socialist intellectual Hugh Gaitskell by the largest majority ever given a newly-chosen Labor leader may mark a turning point. Instead of quarreling among themselves, party supporters now will probably concentrate on fighting the Conservatives.

The splitting headache of British socialism for the last four years—the bitter battle between party moderates and the extreme left—is likely to subside. Gaitskell is identified with the party's right wing and has in fact been called an ultra-right-winger, but most close observers feel he will prove a middle-of-the-roader acceptable to both wings.

NEW COMMON POLICY

This view is reflected in press comment. The Financial Times, a Conservative newspaper, says that Gaitskell, more than any other alternative leader, "may be able to hold the party together, to persuade it to agree on a new common policy . . ."

R. T. McKenzie of Vancouver, a Canadian political analyst now living in London, writes in The Daily Telegraph, also a Conservative paper: "It now will be Gaitskell's task to lead the whole party and not merely the right-wing majority . . . His overtures to certain left-wing figures in the Bevanite camp suggest he may attempt to do deliberately what Attlee appeared to do intuitively, that is to lead the party from the centre, although Gaitskell seems likely to choose a position slightly right-of-centre in contrast to Attlee's left-of-centre stance."

Asked at a press conference on Wednesday night what he thought of Attlee's recent statement that the party leader should be left-of-centre, Gaitskell beamed and replied: "That suits me."

ONLY REAL OPPOSITION

In its 55 years of history the party has grown to become the only effective rival to the Conservatives, who have broadly dominated British politics for the last 25 years. When the first Labor government with power was elected in 1945 Socialists felt it would remain in office for a generation. The electoral defeat in 1951 left the party divided on policy and personalities, a split which has persisted to the present.

Gaitskell's clear-cut triumph points to the impression that the mass of the party is tired of the internal struggle and wants to concentrate on thinking out a united policy in preparation for the next election some four years from now.

All-Year Strait Ferry Service Called for by Chamber Group

Introduction of a year-round ferry service between Port Angeles and Victoria was called for Wednesday night by Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist and trade group meeting at the Strathcona Hotel.

"It is time we had action on this service," said Ken Lowndes. "If not we shall be in the same position in 1956 as we were in 1955.

"We should make arrangements with some company to start a ferry service in May—not June. By then most of the visitors from the east will have already made their plans.

"We lost thousands of dollars last year because there was no adequate service between these points."

Ex-alderman J. Worthington favored approaching Canadian Pacific on the need for the service.

"I think we should stay with the CPR 100 per cent," he said. "They are our friends."

"I am not knocking the CPR," Mr. Lowndes replied. "If they give us the service we want we will support them. So far they have not offered any co-operation.

STICKS WITH CPR

"I still think you can do business with the CPR if you approach them in the right way," Mr. Worthington persisted. "It is no use going to them with a club in your hand and demanding these things."

The group agreed to ask the chamber's transportation committee to make an early report on the opening of the ferry season.

Last month R. J. Acheson, president of Black Ball Transport Inc., Seattle, told The Times he planned to start a year-round service between Victoria and Port Angeles on June 1.

At present his company is carrying freight between these points in the ferry Iroquois, which is not licensed to carry passengers.

Mr. Acheson said he would give a concrete statement early in the new year following a business trip to Washington, D.C.

Victoria is now without a car-passenger ferry connection with Port Angeles for the first time in 40 years.

NO WINTER LICENCE

After Black Ball Lines Ltd. (not connected with Black Ball Transport of Seattle) withdrew the Chinook from the run last spring, Washington State Ferries came to the rescue and provided a summer service with the ferry Kalakala.

The Kalakala, however, is not licensed to operate across the Strait of Juan de Fuca in winter months.

H. G. Swendson, administrative assistant of Washington State Ferries, said recently that his company would not stand in the way of a year-round service by competing with Mr. Acheson.

He added that if Black Ball Transport did not provide the service, Washington State Ferries would consider operating a Victoria-Port Angeles service next summer.

CITY CHAMBER PLANS SASKATCHEWAN TOUR

Victoria Chamber of Commerce members will make a goodwill trip to Saskatchewan early in May.

Alderman Austin Curtis told the chamber's tourist trade group Wednesday that such a trip would help Victoria's tourist trade from the prairies.

He suggested a "dry-run" trip should be made first to set up plans for press and radio coverage and meet local Chamber of Commerce members.

CHRISTMAS GIVING

In hundreds of Victoria homes 10 days hence families will pause before the Christmas feast for a murmured benediction. Its phrases will speak the gratitude of fortunate people for the blessings bestowed upon them, its final word—"for these O, Lord, we thank Thee."

To some the blessing will be more than words. Because they have followed some little way in His footsteps, because they, too, have helped to feed the hungry, they will have rendered service to the Christian and the Christmas ideal. Their tables will be twice blessed.

Two days remain in which Victorians may make their gifts, through the Times "Bread for the Hungry" fund, to the starving, the homeless, the ill and the dispossessed. Donations small and large, given from the heart, may take the gaunt wistfulness from the face of a child in Korea, India or Greece. The food such money will buy will nourish small bodies and strengthen hope among those whose lives, without help, can be only tragedy.

The appeal is made to the fortunate people of a rich country, Canada. In their wealth, they are asked to remember the children to whom the simple essentials of life are luxury. They are reminded of the Biblical injunction: "Give, and it shall be given unto you."

From our plenty we are asked a token. As we respond, so shall our Christmas be enriched.

UN Cheers Canada For Ending Deadlock

Martin Actions on Memberships Draws Record Applause in Assembly

(See also Page 9.)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The General Assembly today paid tribute to Canada for the part she played in breaking the long deadlock on UN membership.

After the voting which brought 16 new members into the organization, assembly President Jose Maza of Chile called on Canada's Health Minister Paul Martin Wednesday night for a statement.

A few minutes earlier Soviet Russia had reversed the vetoes which, on Tuesday, buried Canada's 18-nation "package membership" plan. In an amazing volte-face the USSR agreed to admit all except Outer Mongolia (blocked by Nationalist China's veto) and Japan.

The chief Canadian UN delegate, principal architect of the membership plan, headed a parade of speakers. Witnesses said the applause which broke out when Martin rose to speak, and again when he finished, was possibly the loudest they had ever heard at the UN.

Many other speakers paid tribute to Canada's initiative. Among the warmest in his praise was Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain, who expressed pleasure at "the great role which the senior Dominion played in this matter."

Dixon added: "One of its great statesmen, by his statesmanship and courage, has more than anyone else broken the deadlock which has divided us now for nine years."

FLOOD OF TELEGRAMS

Sir Leslie Munro of New Zealand, December president of the Security Council, said he was sure Martin would be recognized as the leading figure behind the membership solution.

The Canadian delegation here was being deluged by telegrams from grateful people in all parts of the world, particularly those countries admitted to membership.

In his address to the assembly, Martin said:

"All here are conscious that this is a great occasion. I wish to recognize our great debt to the Security Council for the important recommendation it made. . . .

"I and my delegation and my country do not take credit for this result. The credit belongs to many nations and many delegations. The result came from a collective effort based upon extensive negotiations.

"We have one regret, however: that Japan was not accorded membership. We look forward soon, at the earliest possible opportunity, to the inclusion of this nation in our ranks. . . ."

Canada's support of the four Communist applicants, Martin said, must not be construed as expressing approval of their ideology and form of government.

"It may be that as a result of the decision taken tonight we now will have the opportunity of asking why peoples in certain areas continue to be slaves to a particular system. We may be given an opportunity of asking why they are not free.

"We may be given an opportunity of indicting face to face these systems that have permitted imprisonment of great ecclesiastical leaders of all faiths. . . .

PAUL MARTIN
. . . UN ovation

"In this first year of the second decade of this organization it may be that our decision tonight will give hope to all peoples, and a strong purpose to the charter of the United Nations, which if allowed to play fully its part could mean in this inter-dependent world freedom, security and peace for all mankind."

RAIL UNIONS REJECT ARBITRATION

Negotiations Bogged Down

MONTREAL (CP)—The major railways today asked non-operating unions to agree that conciliation board findings be made final and binding in their current contract dispute. The proposal was immediately rejected.

This was described as the main feature of a surprise meeting attended by chief union negotiator Frank Hall, representing 150,000 railwaymen.

The railways also asked that the conciliation hearings be held in public and not behind closed doors as has been the custom.

Meanwhilte, in Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested that the railways and non-operating unions submit their dispute to an impartial body.

Mr. St. Laurent was addressing a Canadian Congress of Labor delegation which protested government interference in the last two major railway disputes, one of which was ended by parliamentary legislation.

He spoke after CCL president A. R. Mosher had asked for clarification of a statement by the prime minister Wednesday which Mr. Mosher interpreted as meaning the government might impose compulsory arbitration to settle this dispute.

"When we are convinced we are in the right," Mr. St. Laurent replied, "I think we are always disposed to submit to impartial appraisal of such a situation to indicate that we are in the right."

RENEWS HINT

The prime minister renewed his hint of Wednesday that the government will not permit a general railway tie-up.

"I think no one will contemplate the possibility of doing without public transport in a country like ours," he said.

"There must be found some way other than the long-drawn-out stagnation periods in services that are essential to the functioning of our economy."

The prime minister said there is general recognition that there should be no attempt to curtail the right to strike.

"But I did point out Wednesday there could arise deadlocks which would not be in conformity with our Canadian view that things could be worked out by negotiation and other peaceful ways without prolonging matters to the point of exhaustion and interruption of necessary services."

ROLLS SPECTACULAR, INJURIES TRIVIAL

MORE SNOW EXPECTED TONIGHT, FRIDAY

Ice-Coated Roads Play Havoc With Drivers; Cars Overturn

A rash of motor accidents started the day for city and district police this morning as a light fall of snow turned roads and streets into treacherous ice rinks.

Worst accident occurred at 9.05 a.m. when a car driven north on Douglas by Edwin Scott, 1121 Woodstock, skidded and overturned between Toronto and Michigan Streets. He and his wife, Peggy, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

A second spill was reported at Carey Road near Diamond, where a car driven north on Carey by Patrick Clarence Ball, 18, of 326 Obed, skidded off the road, struck a stump and turned on its side.

The accident occurred at 10.45 a.m. Ball was not injured. About $300 damage was caused to the car.

Dozens of other minor incidents were reported as motorists slid through stop signs, rammed into cars ahead, became stuck in ditches, and otherwise battled the elements on their way to work.

Nanaimo reported three inches of snow at noon, and one and one-half inches were reported on the Malahat.

CHAINS NEEDED

Highways department engineers said chains were a necessity on the Malahat, but that all roads in the district were being plowed and sanded.

First Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus over the Malahat from Nanaimo was reported delayed by slow-moving traffic, but not encountering any trouble.

Weatherman William Mackie said ice pellets fell at midnight, and that snow fell lightly just prior to 6 a.m.

"We are at the critical temperature," he said. "If the surface temperature had been a little higher it would have been rain."

There will be little change in the next 24 hours, he said. Snow flurries are expected for tonight and snow mixed with rain Friday. Temperatures will range between 33 and 38 degrees tonight and Friday, and winds will be northeasterly at 15 miles.

$50,000 B.C. Fire

KELOWNA (CP)—Damage may exceed $50,000 from an early morning fire which hit the Willits block here.

HOUSE HOLDS KEY TO SUNDAY SPORT

Premier Bennett will wait until he's asked to act before deciding what to do about changing Vancouver city's charter to permit commercial sport between 1 and 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Vancouver voters Wednesday approved a Sunday sport plebiscite 38,031 to 36,124.

Next step will be a decision by Vancouver council on an application for changes in the city's charter to give effect to the favorable vote.

Questioned at his press conference today, Premier Bennett refused to discuss the Vancouver plebiscite vote.

"There can be no comment on the question; they haven't asked us," the premier said.

Son Lost 11 Years Home for Christmas

POLLIAT, France (UP)—A French farm family was busy today preparing its biggest Christmas celebration for the lost son who returned to this tiny village 11 years after the war wearing the uniform of an American airman.

The son is Airman First Class John D. Jones, an American by adoption, and now 21. He will celebrate his first Christmas with his family since Second World War while on leave from the 8th Flight-Interceptor Wing in Landstuhl, Germany.

Jones was adopted by American Sgt. Raymond Jones in 1944. He was 10 at the time and under treatment in an American hospital in France for a head injury sufered in an air raid. The memory of his childhood was gone.

The young boy went to school in the United States, joined the air force and was sent overseas to Germany. He returned to Polliat on a hunch and recognized what he believed to be his home and family in the namlet of Marrelles.

His real name, he learned, is Raymond Monard and he was born in nearby Bourge-en-Bresse on March 30, 1934.

He promised to spend his Christmas leave with his family and his mother is already busy preparing for the Christmas feast.

Cold War Revived Dulles Warns NATO

PARIS (AP)—State Secretary Dulles of the United States told the NATO council of ministers today that the East-West cold war is on again after nearly a year of Soviet policy zig-zagging.

In discussing the trends and motives of Russian policy in 1955, Dulles declared the new rulers of the Soviet Union have opened dangerous new cold war fronts in the Middle East and South Asia.

He added, however, that the 15-power Atlantic alliance had overcome greater dangers in the past by remaining ever vigilant and united.

Dulles spoke at the opening of the first council meeting since last summer's Big Four "summit" conference at Geneva and the foreign ministers' subsequent deadlock in the Swiss city.

What, Dulles asked, are the reasons for this year of Soviet "zig-zagging?"

He suggested three possibilities:

1. It might be due to the element of confidence, flowing from a belief in Russia's increased strength.

2. It might derive from the Russians' fear that new ideas would affect the compact structure of their system.

3. And it might be the result of a recrudescence of Stalinism which he believes is by no means dead in the Soviet Union.

Dulles argued that the Russians have been able to pose new threats in the Middle East and South Asia by playing on the emotionalism of those areas and by offering "apparent aid." Although Russia lacks consumer goods, she has big surpluses of obsolescent arms and has no hesitation about using them to further her own political ends, he said.

NATO's military planners declared the Soviet military threat to the western world is greater now than ever.

Russia, they said, is training troops for nuclear warfare and has built up a speedy bomber fleet capable of reaching any part of the NATO area with explosives of the megaton million-ton calibre.

The recent cut of 640,000 in the Soviet armed forces in no way lessened their combat ability, said an intelligence report on Russian and Communist satellite strength placed before the ministers.

The Red Army was said still to consist of 175 divisions but, more significantly, much has been done in developing new weapons and equipment. Training of ground forces has been reorganized to increase mobility and dispersion in the atomic age. The satellite forces also were said to have improved in quality.

NANAIMO TUG RESCUES 10 B.C. SEAMEN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ten men were plucked from their sinking tug in Georgia strait, 25 miles north of here Wednesday night in one of the fastest marine rescues on record.

A distress call was sent out by Capt. Al Bachen of the tug Commodore Straits when the 120-foot boat hit a rock and began sinking.

The Nanaimo Clipper, under Capt. Bill Thompson of Nanaimo, pulled alongside and in one hour the men steeped from one boat to the other.

Two heavy lifting derricks were on the scene today to affect salvage operations.

MANPOWER SHORTAGE IN 1956?

Premier Bennett said today the government expects "an overall shortage of manpower in B.C. in 1956," and that the government will send civil servants to England to hire specialists and technicians.

The government will also recruit help, mostly in the trades and unskilled fields, from the prairies.

"Wherever we need specialists, we'll go and get them," he said.

Shortages were already showing in engineering and other fields, and with construction of new highways, the PGE, bridges, booming private industry, the gas pipeline, need for skilled workers were becoming acute.

The provincial development, said the premier, "will create a tremendous amount of employment. It will amount to thousands in the new labor force in 1956."

In bringing in this new population the premier said he hoped "many former Canadians will return from employment in the United States."

If specialists are hired from industry, nothing is solved as a vacancy is left there, he said. It would reflect to over-all betterment of both provincial government and industry to bring in employees from outside the province.

Death Toll 8 In Europe Storm

LONDON (UP)—Icy late-fall gales accompanied by torrents of rain lashed western Europe and the North Atlantic Wednesday night and early today, killing at least eight persons.

Three persons were reported drowned or dashed to death when the Belgian trawler Beatrix Fernande was driven onto Scotland's rocky coast by 70-mile-an-hour winds.

Nasser Issues Virtual Ultimatum

UP and AP Dispatches

CAIRO (UP) — Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser announced Egypt was informing the United Nations today that Egypt and Syria will attack Israel on two fronts if there is "any further Israeli aggression."

The virtual ultimatum brought the Middle East crisis to one of its most critical points since the Palestine fighting stopped six years ago.

GUNS FROM SOVIET

Egypt and Syria recently allied themselves militarily and formed a joint high command. Communist arms deliveries are filling out Egyptian gaps in equipment. Syria fronts on Israeli's northeast border and Egypt abuts the southern frontier.

Nasser issued his warning four days after an Israeli night assault beside the Sea of Galilee killed some 50 Syrians.

Nasser said the Egyptian government was delivering a memorandum to UN secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold today pointing out that "any further Israeli aggression would be met by the resistance of all the Egyptian-Syrian armed forces."

Nasser added that the Arabs "have already fully demonstrated their peaceful intentions by their non-violent attitude."

Speaking to reporters, Nasser said the peaceful attitude taken by the Arab countries "will not continue so long as Israel is aggressive."

Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief of the United Nations truce organizations, today completed a report on the Sea of Galilee attack and sent it to the UN secretary-general.

ISRAEL BLAMED

While details of Gen. Burns' report were not disclosed, a British Foreign Office spokesman said Wednesday his interim report had confirmed the British view that the engagement was an "unprovoked attack" by Israel.

Syria had protesetd the attack to the United Nations and the matter is scheduled to come before the Security Council Friday.

In Damascus, a Syrian military spokesman said Syrian anti-aircraft batteries fired on three Israeli planes flying over the Syrian-Israeli border Wednesday. The planes were not hit.

PoW DEAL OFFERED

Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, an Israeli foreign ministry spokesman announced Israel has notified Burns it is prepared to free all Syrian prisoners on condition all Israelis in Syrian hands are freed. Informed sources told the Associated Press there are more than 30 Syrians in Israeli hands and five Israelis prisoners in Syria.

BREAD FOR THE HUNGRY

'Will There Be Food Tomorrow'? - - Haunting Question in Korea

While Victoria families, warmed and protected in stout homes, trim trees, wrap the gifts of a land of plenty, thousands of Korean women patch leaking roofs in paper shacks, fight famine and cold, mourn lost husbands and watch their children waste away.

Living in refugee camps, the widows of Korea have no way to support their children. Christmas is only another milestone on the road to death by disease or starvation. Each year ages them as 10. Each day fades the light of life in their children's eyes.

The Unitarian Service Committee has pledged $110,000 to Widow Rehabilitation Centres in Korea, Greece and India before Christmas Day. The money will train these women to earn a living for themselves and support for their children.

The widows of Korea ask only a chance to help themselves.

This is a Christmas gift that anyone here can give, simply by a donation to the USC Christmas appeal. To noon today Times readers had donated $2,811.27.

Little notes have accompanied many of the donations received by The Times on behalf of USC. A doctor's prescription slip said, "Enclosed is $15 in aid of an excellent cause."

A frail, shaky hand wrote on a piece of ruled exercise paper, "Just a little help for the hungry children, $5, C.E.L." A Chemainus reader, whose stationery bears a Biblical quotation, "Inasmuch as Ye have done it unto one of the least of these, Ye have done it unto Me," sends $1 and states, "Wish it could be more." A Christmas card, directing its greeting to ". . The poor children who are not as fortunate as I am" contained $2.

HUNGER, LONELINESS and life in refugee camps have aged these Korean war widows.

MIDDLE EAST CRISIS AT CRITICAL POINT

Egypt's Nasser Issues Virtual Ultimatum

UP and AP Dispatches

CAIRO (UP)—Prime Minister Gamal Abdel Nasser announced Egypt was informing the United Nations today that Egypt and Syria will attack Israel on two fronts if there is "any further Israeli aggression."

The virtual ultimatum brought the Middle East crisis to one of its most critical points since the Palestine fighting stopped six years ago.

Egypt and Syria recently allied themselves militarily and formed a joint high command. Communist arms deliveries are filling out Egyptian gaps in equipment. Syria fronts on Israeli's northeast border and Egypt abuts the southern frontier.

Nasser issued his warning four days after an Israeli night assault beside the Sea of Galilee killed some 50 Syrians.

Nasser said the Egyptian government was delivering a memorandum to UN secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold today pointing out that "any further Israeli aggression would be met by the resistance of all the Egyptian-Syrian armed forces."

Nasser added that the Arabs "have already fully demonstrated their peaceful intentions by their non-violent attitude."

Speaking to reporters, Nasser said the peaceful attitude taken by the Arab countries "will not continue so long as Israel is aggressive."

Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, chief of the United Nations truce organizations, today completed a report on the Sea of Galilee attack and sent it to the UN secretary-general.

Burns Files Report With UN

While details of Gen. Burns' report were not disclosed, a British Foreign Office spokesman said Wednesday his interim report had confirmed the British view that the engagement was an "unprovoked attack" by Israel.

Syria had protested the attack to the United Nations and the matter is scheduled to come before the Security Council Friday.

In Damascus, a Syrian military spokesman said Syrian anti-aircraft batteries fired on three Israeli planes flying over the Syrian-Israeli border Wednesday. The planes were not hit.

Meanwhile, in Jerusalem, an Israeli foreign ministry spokesman announced Israel has notified Burns it is prepared to free all Syrian prisoners on condition all Israelis in Syrian hands are freed. Informed sources told the Associated Press there are more than 30 Syrians in Israeli hands and five Israeli prisoners in Syria.

AN EDITORIAL

CHRISTMAS GIVING

In hundreds of Victoria homes 10 days hence families will pause before the Christmas feast for a murmured benediction. Its phrases will speak the gratitude of fortunate people for the blessings bestowed upon them, its final word—"for these O, Lord, we thank Thee."

To some the blessing will be more than words. Because they have followed some little way in His footsteps, because they, too, have helped to feed the hungry, they will have rendered service to the Christian and the Christmas ideal. Their tables will be twice blessed.

Two days remain in which Victorians may make their gifts, through the Times "Bread for the Hungry" fund, to the starving, the homeless, the ill and the dispossessed. Donations small and large, given from the heart, may take the gaunt wistfulness from the face of a child in Korea, India or Greece. The food such money will buy will nourish small bodies and strengthen hope among those whose lives, without help, can be only tragedy.

The appeal is made to the fortunate people of a rich country, Canada. In their wealth, they are asked to remember the children to whom the simple essentials of life are luxury. They are reminded of the Biblical injunction: "Give, and it shall be given unto you."

From our plenty we are asked a token. As we respond, so shall our Christmas be enriched.

Nashua Sold for $1,251,200

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua, American champion three-year-old race horse of 1955, was sold today for $1,251,200 to Leslie Combs of Spendthrift Farm, Lexington, Ky.

Eleven bids were received for Nashua, this year's No. 1 horse, and five of these exceeded $1,000,000, the executors reported.

The total realized for all 62 horses involved in the Belair sale was $1,866,200.

$80,000 Fire, Blast at Kamloops

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Fire which followed explosion of a gas tank caused an estimated loss of $80,000 here at the Dawson Wade and Company garage and storage shed.

Joseph Mathoway, welder, narrowly escaped from the shed minutes before the tank exploded, lifting the roof.

It is believed the fire started from a spark thrown out by a welding torch.

Canada Said Vital Defence Area

LONDON (CP)—The News Chronicle says Canada now is as vital a defence area for the free world as the key German sector in Europe.

In a lengthy article dominating its feature page, the paper quotes from Canadian sources to support the view that North American continental defence has become a major worry.

Britain to Back Syria's Protest

LONDON (AP)—Britain told Israel today of its "grave concern" at the Israeli attack on Syrian positions overlooking the Sea of Galilee Sunday night. Syria has said 49 Syrians were killed in the attack.

Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, permanent undersecretary at the foreign office, summoned Israeli ambassador Eliahu Elath to advise him of Britain's feeling.

The foreign office said Sir Ivone informed Elath that Britain "would support the Syrian appeal to the United Nations" against the Israeli action.

RAIL UNIONS TURN DOWN ARBITRATION

Negotiations Bogged Down

MONTREAL (CP)—The major railways today asked non-operating unions to agree that conciliation board findings be made final and binding in their current contract dispute. The proposal was immediately rejected.

This was described as the main feature of a surprise meeting attended by chief union negotiator Frank Hall, representing 150,000 railwaymen.

The railways also asked that the conciliation hearings be held in public and not behind closed doors as has been the custom.

Meanwhile, in Ottawa, Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested that the railways and non-operating unions submit their dispute to an impartial body.

Mr. St. Laurent was addressing a Canadian Congress of Labor delegation which protested government interference

SPECTACULAR ROLLS, TRIVIAL INJURIES

Light snow today meant trouble to morning motorists. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Scott, 1121 Woodstock, suffered minor injuries when their car rolled to pose in top picture. Patrick Ball, 326 Obed, escaped uninjured from second car.

Ice-Coated Roads Play Havoc With Drivers; Cars Overturn

A rash of motor accidents started the day for city and district police this morning as a light fall of snow turned roads and streets into treacherous ice rinks.

Worst accident occurred at 9.05 a.m. when a car driven north on Douglas by Edwin Scott, 1121 Woodstock, skidded and overturned between Toronto and Michigan Streets. He and his wife, Peggy, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

A second spill was reported at Carey Road near Diamond, where a car driven north on Carey by Patrick Clarence Ball, 18, of 326 Obed, skidded off the road, struck a stump and turned on its side.

The accident occurred at 10.45 a.m. Ball was not injured. About $300 damage was caused to the car.

Dozens of other minor incidents were reported as motorists slid through stop signs, rammed into cars ahead, became stuck in ditches, and otherwise battled the elements on their way to work.

Nanaimo reported three inches of snow at noon, and one and one-half inches were reported on the Malahat.

MacMillan Accused At Forest Inquiry

VANCOUVER (CP)—L. L. G. Bentley, vice-president of Canadian Forest Products Ltd., today told the Sloan forestry inquiry that lumber magnate H. R. MacMillan wants to "weaken competition—not protect the small logger."

Mr. Bentley challenged nearly every major point made to the commission by Mr. MacMillan in a brief last month.

"He wants to deny everyone else the privilege which he himself has had through obtaining two very large forest management licences on the west coast of Vancouver Island. These will allow him to continue and expand."

Claiming it was not Mr. MacMillan's purpose to "protect the small man by recommending that all Crown lands should now be put into public working circles," Mr. Bentley said, "his real purpose is to weaken the competitive position of every one else but Mr. MacMillan."

Mr. Bentley also contested the MacMillan claim that Vancouver Forest District is overcut. Tom Wright, chief forester for Canadian Forest Products, supported his chief's submission by showing tables indicating only 75 per cent of Vancouver's forest district "growth potential" is presently being cut. For the coast as a whole the figure is 51 per cent, he said.

Total allowable cut for the whole area is 4,890,000,000 board feet. This is in contrast, said Mr. Wright to the MacMillan estimate of 3,290,000,000.

HOUSE HOLDS KEY TO SUNDAY SPORT

Premier Bennett will wait until he's asked to act before deciding what to do about changing Vancouver city's charter to permit commercial sport between 1 and 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Vancouver voters Wednesday approved a Sunday sport plebiscite 38,031 to 36,124.

Next step will be a decision by Vancouver council on an application for changes in the city's charter to give effect to the favorable vote.

Questioned at his press conference today, Premier Bennett refused to discuss the Vancouver plebiscite vote.

"There can be no comment on the question; they haven't asked us," the premier said.

BREAD FOR THE HUNGRY

'Will There Be Food Tomorrow'? -- Haunting Question in Korea

While Victoria families, warmed and protected in stout homes, trim trees, wrap the gifts of a land of plenty, thousands of Korean women patch leaking roofs in paper shacks, fight famine and cold, mourn lost husbands and watch their children waste away.

Living in refugee camps, the widows of Korea have no way to support their children. Christmas is only another milestone on the road to death by disease or starvation. Each year ages them as 10. Each day fades the light of life in their children's eyes.

The Unitarian Service Committee has pledged $110,000 to Widow Rehabilitation Centres in Korea, Greece and India before Christmas Day. The money will train these women to earn a living for themselves and support for their children.

This is a Christmas gift that anyone here can give, simply by a donation to the USC Christmas appeal. To noon today Times readers had donated $2,811.27.

Little notes have accompanied many of the donations received by The Times on behalf of USC. A doctor's prescription slip said, "Enclosed is $15 in aid of an excellent cause."

A frail, shaky hand wrote on a piece of ruled exercise paper, "Just a little help for the hungry children, $5, C.E.L." A Chemainus reader, whose stationery bears a Biblical quotation, "Inasmuch as Ye have done it unto one of the least of these, Ye have done it unto Me," sends $1 and states, "Wish it could be more." A Christmas card, directing its greeting to ". . . The poor children who are not as fortunate as I am" contained $2.
